SCENES AND INCIDENTS.

The Day Elsewhere.

As the Fourth of July is set apart to commemorate the birth of our independence, the 30th of May is destined, for ages, to be consecrated as a holy holiday, chosen as a memorial of those who have indelibly sealed the freedom won by their sires, with their life blood. On such a day it is not appropriate to fire Chinese crackers, and discharge fire works, it is not a day for pyrotechnical rejoicing; but one which the tears of memory should moisten. Yet not altogether one of woe, for we can not but remember, even while gazing on the masoleums of our fallen braves, that, besides an immortality for themselves, they have won for us a glorious heritage, and for liberty, a righteous victory. A day when the rancors of differing religious and political creeds should be forgotten, and all men and women should cease to remember everything but the glories and virtues of those who hallowed and enriched our land with the bright blood of freemen from the Gulf of California to Albermale sound, and from the Potomac and the Ohio to the Rio Grande. A day when flowers and evergreens and immortelles should be scattered on the millions of humble hillocks which show where private soldiers lie, as well as hung upon the stately urns or martial statues which mark the spots where rest the other heroes, whose names stand forth like capital letters on the great and glorious page of our National history. As the first thirteen States of the Federation united after the tedious years of war which followed the 4th of July, 1776, in rejoicing over the Freedom won, so they now join with their younger sisters, a noble band of free governments, in glorifying their sons who fell in perpetuating the existence that was there achieved. And the infant Nevada joining hands with the stately and imperial Pennsylvania, covers with flowers the ground that is made holy by blood which has welled up mutually from their bosoms. We can not burst out in strains of unmitigated joy now, as we shall a month later, for no oceans separate us from the foes whose pride was humbled by the heroes whom we now unite to honor nor is the triumph which now fills our souls untainted by sorrow, that it is our brothers, erring and rebellious, but still our brothers, who have cost us so much of grief and peopled with untimely dwellers the cities of our dead.

THE IDEA

Of commemorating in marble the heroic deeds of the four thousand who found soldiers' graves while battling for the nation, was first suggested by Gen. Pearson shortly after the close of the war. It was immediately acted upon by a number of gentlemen, and on August 25, 1865, a Finance Committee, consisting of Messrs. Pearson, Gormly, Brown, Sellers, Watt, Jones and Turner met at Mertz's banking house and organized the soliciting campaign. Wounded soldiers were at first employed to canvass, receiving a slight percentage on contributions. They were aided by appeals from the pulpit and individual efforts of the committee, but after hard toil for several months the amount only netted $1,500.

A new plan was then considered, the ladies were interested, and the Monumental Association, with Mrs. Samuel McKee as President, was the result. Our readers are familiar with the Fair which followed and the financial success which attended it, causing the treasury to be replenished to the amount of $26,600. This was put out at interest, Mr. James Park, Jr., being chosen Treasurer of the Association and custodian of the funds.

was the next consideration, and there were many who supposed this could be settled and the work commenced immediately.

It required about two years to settle this matter. Allegheny Cemetery was the first site selected. The people didn't want that, and expressed themselves so decidedly that the idea was abandoned. Then Seminary Hill was suggested, and met with great favor. The credit of this belongs to Mr. Charles Davis, of Allegheny, who advocated this in a series of letters, one of which, published in the GAZETTE, indicated the course to be pursued—submitting the matter to a vote of the people. This was done, and in October, 1869, the people decided in favor of the Hill with great unanimity.

The difficulty was thus settled, and preparations made for the laying of the corner stone. The foundation was commenced about two months ago.

THE MONUMENT

When completed will be in every respect an elegant and appropriate tribute of a grateful people to departed heroic patriotism. The funds now in hand amount to $28,000, which will be increased by $5,000 from the Park Commissioners, [exclusive of the foundation] and $5,000 from the County Commissioners—that appropriation having been authorized by the Legislature. With near $40,000 spent upon it, the stately monumental pile will as it should be—honorable alike to its object and its builders.

THE DESIGN.

A correct cut of which we herewith present, is the production of Mr. L. Morganroth—a Pittsburgh artist. Thus it has been all throught the idea was carried out to make it in design, workmanship and materials, as far as possible, of Pittsburgh origin. The original plan was slightly altered so that the pedestals, to be surmounted by eagles, will have statues representing the four arms of the service, infantry, artillery, cavalry and navy. A statue of frame will also take the place of a soldier on the top as a crown. The entire heighth of the structure will be seventy-five feet. The balcony, to which a winding stairs case will ascend, will be thirty feet above the foundation. The monument itself will be constructed of beautiful yellow massillon, and the figures, balcony reliefs of pink Massillon stone, a contrast which will materially add to its appearance. Upon the base the names of Allegheny county's four thousand gallant dead will be inscribed, and thus numbered in that list which shall forever hereafter silently, but none the less eloquently, tell of that devotion and patriotism and sacrifice to which our beloved land owes its existence.

The work will be completed one year from to-day, that the multitudes in the recurrence of another memorial anniversary may gather around the emblem of their love, and once again consecrate it with tears and crown it with flowers.

EARLY MORNING SCENES.

The beautiful ceremony of decorating the graves of our fallen heroes was performed for the first time in our city one year ago. Then with music, and ladened with the pure offeridgs of fragrant spring time, we gathered around the tombs of the departed and enshrouded them in the vernal testimonials of living remembrance.

But yesterday had an especial significance to us. Not only would we unite in covering our cherished tombs with flowers, but we would lay the foundation stone of an enduring edifice, which, resting on the eternal rocks and pointing to the illimitable heavens, should show that our soldiers who have put off the mortality of earth to reach a higher life, have left a lasting and imperishable memory behind them. This was our purpose, and Heaven and man smiled upon it. As the day dawned, a Sabbath-like stillness reigned over this great vale of industry; the workshops and the warehouses were closed, and it was easy to see that, though the laws of the land had not decreed it, labor was suspended, and some especial purpose filled the minds and directed the steps of the populace, who soon began to throng the thoroughfares whence commerce had fled. Blossom-laden bands could be seen wending their ways to the various cemeteries, which, long before the hours when business usually fills the streets, bloomed with innumerable tokens of the love and honor with which their silent denizens are regarded. The day itself was clear, and seemed especially suited to the occasion, for the sun was veiled with thin grey mists, which, while threatening no rain, mercifully shielded the thousands, who were in the open air for hours, from the intense heat which otherwise would undoubtedly have been their lot. At an early hour strains of music could be heard, and bands of musicians began to march through the city towards their various rendezvouz, heading the long delegations as they began to lose their individuality in the various divisions of the memorial procession before it started on its way to the goal on the summit of Monument Hill.

THE FIRST FEATURE

Of the day which attracted general attention was the grand procession. The divisions commenced forming quite early and with great promptitude assumed their places in the line which moved off at ten and a half o'clock in the following order:

Immediately after came Post No. 117 G. A. R., of Birmingham, numbering about one hundred men. Then came Post No. 151 G. A. R., of Birmingham, numbering 150 men, under command of John J. Hertzog.

Following the Posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, was the Mechanics Hose Company of Birmingham, under command of Captain Conway. The men, numbering about one hundred, wore red shirts, black belts and red fire hats. The hose reel was tastefully decorated with the American flag and a profusion of natural flowers. The Turner Band of Birmingham, led by Louis Hemrich, was at the head of the company. A very striking feature of the company's turnout, were two little boys, (brothers) Samuel and William Miller, on horseback, in rear of the hose reel. They were dressed very neatly, wearing red shirts, yellow low leggings and blue caps, and were the centre of attraction.

Next came the Walton Hose Company of East Birmingham, with about fifty men in line, wearing white shirts, black pants, black belts and black fire hats. Captain James Charlton was in command. Their hose reel was also beautifully decorated with flowers and small American flags.

The Mount Oliver Hook and Ladder Company came next in the order of procession, and presented a fine appearance. They numbered about eighty men, under command of Captain George Goldbach, and wore black pants, white shirts, blue caps and black belts. The Hook and Ladder Truck was fairly hidden by flowers, tastefully arranged. Quite a number of fire buckets were hanging on the under side of the truck, covered with flowers.

The next organization in line was the Mayflower Section of Cadets of Temperance, No. 19, in full regalia, numbering fifty members. W. T. Powell, Worthy Governor, was in command.

Washington Temple of Honor, No. 60, of Birmingham, also in full regalia, in charge of Worthy Chief Templar William T. Phillis, followed the cadets. They had some thirty men in line.

Immediately following came the Atlantic and American Base Ball Clubs, both boys' organizations, numbering about thirty-five members.

The Union Executive Guards of Birmingham (colored) turned out ten men on horseback, under command of Captain Richard Kemple. They wore blue shirts, black pants and regimental hats.

The Ladies Decorative Committee, in nine carriages, occupied the rear of the division. The following are the officers of the Committee: President, Jennie McCutcheon; Vice President, Henrietta Saulsbury; Treasurer, Miss ——— Hamilton; Secretary, Lottie Hammett.

The Great Western Band followed the staff.

Then came a detachment of the police under command of Lieutenant Emmett numbering one hundred and seventeen strong.

After them came the Duquesne Gray Cadets, from the Fourth ward school, numbering thirty young military aspirants, under command of Capt. J. B. Moore. They were all in uniform, marched like veterans and attracted universal admiration.

Next the Duquesne Greys, under the command of Col. Campbell. The battalion comprised companies A, B, C and D, commanded respectively by Captains W. B. Neeper, S. Fullwood, Lieutenant W. R. Reed, and Captain H. Beeson.

The appearance made by the Greys was magnificent. They marched splendidly, and won, as they always do, universal admiration. A banner borne in the ranks was draped with mourning. Color-bearer Harry Alden bore the flag of the regiment, as usual. Dr. Jackson supplemented the battalion and was gorgeous with gold lace and plumes.

The Turners followed, headed by the Olympic Brass Band, of the Sixth ward, Allegheny. The appearance of the band, dressed in their peculiar uniform, was striking. The Turners' delegates numbered some forty men, wearing appropriate badges. Eighty Pittsburgh Turners followed, then fifty-two Allegheny Turners, sixty Birmingham Turners, and eighteen Junior.

After these came a wagon, two carriages and an omnibus, containing thirty wounded soldiers from the Home, under charge of Dr. King.

The Junior Base Ball Club of the First ward, Pittsburgh, numbering twenty-two boys.

Following came the Pittsburgh Fire Department, under command of Chief Engineer McElroy. The appearance made by the department was exceedingly fine, and did the members the utmost credit. The Niagara, Vigilant, Duquesne, Independent, Lawrence and Relief had their engines and hose carriages in the line, and turned on the full complement of uniformed men. The apparatus was beautifully decorated, and one or two of the engines were draped in mourning.

After the department marched the Union Section, No. 8, of the Cadets of Temperance, under command of N. Holmes, W. G. There were fifty-eight of the boys.

They were followed by the Crystal Spring Section, No. 5, numbering sixty, under charge of Peter Good.

Next came the Lincoln and Iron City Lodges of the Temple of Honor, comprising some fifty boys.

One of the most noticeable features of the procession was the delegation of Pittsburgh newsboys, following the others. They numbered seventy little fellows, and all had hold of an immense flag, which they carried horizontally. They were under command of Captain Con. Hennessey, and though their discipline might have been more perfect, they did well, and attracted great attention.

They were followed by twenty-four East Liberty Cadets, under command of Robert Guthrie. They wore black pants, white shirts, blue caps and red sashes.

The Duquesne Gray Cadets No. 2, from the Minersville School, came next. They wore black pants with red stripes, white shirts and red caps.

THE ALLEGHENY DIVISION

Brought up the rear of the column. It was commanded by GEN. CHAS. BARNES.

The division formed on Penn street. It consisted of all the delegations north of the rivers, including several civic associations.

The division was headed by the House of Refuge Band, consisting of twenty-five pieces, followed by Post 88, G. A. R., Sixth ward, (Manchester) Allegheny, under command of Captain Blakeley. The Post turned out seventy-five men, all wearing badges of mourning, and bearing a flag draped in mourning.

Abe Lincoln Lodge No. 76, Temple of Honor, appeared in procession, with forty-six men in full regalia.

The Fourth Ward School Cadets, consisting of sixteen boys, dressed in white shirts, came next in order.

The American Protestant Association, numbering six hundred men, made the largest turnout of any organization in the procession, and consisted of the following lodges, under command of H. Bork: Nos. 3, 4, 11, 36, 57 and 72, of Pittsburgh; 12, 24, 42, 54 and 80, of Allegheny, and 33, of Birmingham. They made a very neat and handsome display, and one creditable to themselves and the organization.

The Tilghman club, of Allegheny, composed of colored men, numbering seventy-five men, wearing capes and caps made a creditable display.

Next came the Allegheny Fire Department, under command of Chief Engineer Crow, headed by the Masonic Brass Band, of McClure township. Since the organization of the Paid Fire Department in Allegheny the same enthusiasm is not manifested as in former days, and none out of the regular paid force paraded yesterday; the Hope Engine and Hose Co., Gen. Grant Engine and Hose, Friendship Engine and Hose, Ellsworth Hose Co., Good Will Hose, and Columbia Hook and Ladder Co. were out. All the engines and hose carriages were beautifully decorated with flowers and flags, and presented a very neat appearance. The Columbia Hook and Ladder Truck deserves special mention for the handsome display made by them, the truck presenting the appearance of a moving flower garden.

A noticeable feature in the procession was the promptitude with which the various divisions assumed their positions. In this respect the affair was a decided improvement upon anything we have had hereabouts in many years. There was but little noise and confusion, and at the designated hour, half-past ten o'clock, the command was given and over the prescribed route proceeded from Water street up Smithfield to Second; up Second to Grant; up Grant to Fifth avenue; down Fifth avenue to Market street; down Market to Sixth; down Sixth to the bridge; across the bridge and up Federal street to Robinson; up Robinson to Anderson; up Anderson to Church avenue; up Church avenue to Cedar; up Cedar to North avenue; down North avenue to Webster street, where it defiled into the broad carriage way of the Park and moved round to Ohio street; then passed down Ohio street to Irwin avenue; up the avenue to the foot of the hill, where the column halted. The main part of the procession proceeded no further, but the Washington Infantry, Pittsburgh, and Heath Zouaves followed the chief marshals and staff to the site of the monument on Seminary Hill.

THE STREET DECORATION.

All along the line of procession from public buildings and private dwellings flags and streamers and flowery wreaths manifested the enthusiasm and feeling with which the day was commemorated. The main avenues of both cities were especially brilliant in holiday attire. Many of the houses, in addition, were adorned with appropriate mottoes and emblems in evergreen. The request made by the managers of the exercises in regard to decorating was heartily responded to, and the cities have never been exhibited in fresher, brighter, more fragrant or more tasteful appearance.

THE SCENE.

From the summit of the hill was inexpressively animated and beautiful. Standing on the site of the monument the observer embraced in a glance two cities, renowned for activity whose industries were as silent as a Sabbath scene. To the right rolled the river which separates a historic land, in the past from that which was to be a historic land in the future; within his gaze were these innumerable land marks which exhibit at once the wealth and honor and glory of our people. There, too, are churches in front of him, and all around him lifted their spires heavenward and scattered here and there among the public school houses, seemed to bear testimony to those elements of free religion and knowledge which have been the stability and grandeur of the nation. Over to the north loomed up the grim walls of the stone mansion, the embodiment of the sternness and majesty of law, which those who were to be remembered had died to maintain. On the distant Observatory Hill came out in relief, surrounded by stately dwellings and almost hid beneath trees and foliage and flowers, the institution that stands as an irrefragible proof that our people are not alone engrossed in the marts of trade. In front was the railroad track over which the wealth of the cities and land had been and still will be carried, while over all seemed to rest an air of prosperity, betokening progress and security and peace.

But there were other and softer lines to the scene. Gathered upon the Hill, from base to summit, were the young and old, plentiful as blossoms in the springtime. Childhood, fresh and pure; manhood, strong and reliant; woman, lovely, dependent and yet directing; old age, feeble but revered and cared for, mingled in the shifting kaladeoscope of humanity which every changing presented a continuous succession of beauties. Gay scarfs, and ribbons and handkerchiefs fluttered in the breeze. All the costumer's art had been lavished upon that which formed the warp and woof of the scene. Laughter, cheery and childish and heartsome mingled with the undercurrent of subdued and graver voices which were borne to the ear. Here and there a figure in black, bent with years, mutely told the story as it moved amid the throng. There was joy and grief, resignation and hope, happiness and sympathy, innocence and crime, intellect and ignorance, suffering and courage, beaming from the sea of faces which greeted the gaze of the observer.

The beauty of the human alone eclipsed the loveliness of nature in this brilliant panorama. Below lay within sight a portion of the Park, over which the monument will hereafter vigils keep. Its flowing fountains and blooming flowers, and winding avenues and smoothly shaven lawns, under the influence of the genial sun and diversified by happy throngs, continually moving, formed of it a perfect picture of enchantment.

The whole scene was one which the city has never looked upon and which it may not look upon for many years again.

THE CHILDREN

of the schools, who formed the choir of Prof. Slack, were arranged on a slight eminence above the corner stone, on the west side. They numbered about one hundred and fifty, and, with their bright young faces, and pure white raiment, in which all were uniformly arrayed, and childish eagerness to begin and impatience at the slight delay in the exercises, formed a group pleasing and picturesque, and fair to look upon.

The people assembled at the hill-top at a very early hour, and waited in patience for the appearance of the head of the column. In preparation for this event a battery of U. S. Guns from the Arsenal, under command of Capt. Geo. B. Ramsay, was stationed on the western side of the hill and prepared for

THE SALUTE

Which was to open the ceremonies around the monument. Shortly before one o'clock the head of the procession came into view near the Humboldt Monument in the Park, and simultaneous with the exclamations of delight with which this sign was hailed, the guns boomed and the salute began. They now continued firing while the column moved on and halted at the foot of the Hill. One hundred guns were fired while the preliminary preparations for the exercises were being made.

Laving their carriages at the foot of the descent, the ladies of

THE MONUMENTAL ASSOCIATION,

Escorted by the members of the Building Committee, slowly walked up toward the summit. Along the line of the road the military companies had been stationed, and as the ladies passed up they were received with the accustomed military salute. They moved forward to the platform which had been erected for their accommodation at the north side of the foundation, and removed from it about ten yards. The following ladies comprised the party: Mrs. Samuel McKee, President of the Association; Mrs. Gen. A. L. Pearson, Mrs. John Watt, Mrs. R. Robinson, Mrs. B. Preston, Mrs. John Barton, Mrs. L. S. Johns, Mrs. A. Chambers, Mrs. A. Hutchison, Mrs. Q. A. Scott, Miss Annie Stewart, Miss Ella Paisley, Miss Maggie Armstrong, Miss Lide Armstrong. The members of the Building Committee and members of the press were also provided with accommodations within the circle.

THE FOUNDATION

Occupied a position to the south of the stand. It was built square in form with four buttresses. In the northwest buttress the corner stone was located. No flag floated over the site, but a brilliant basket of the rarest flowers, the contribution of Mr. John Harper, served as a decoration.

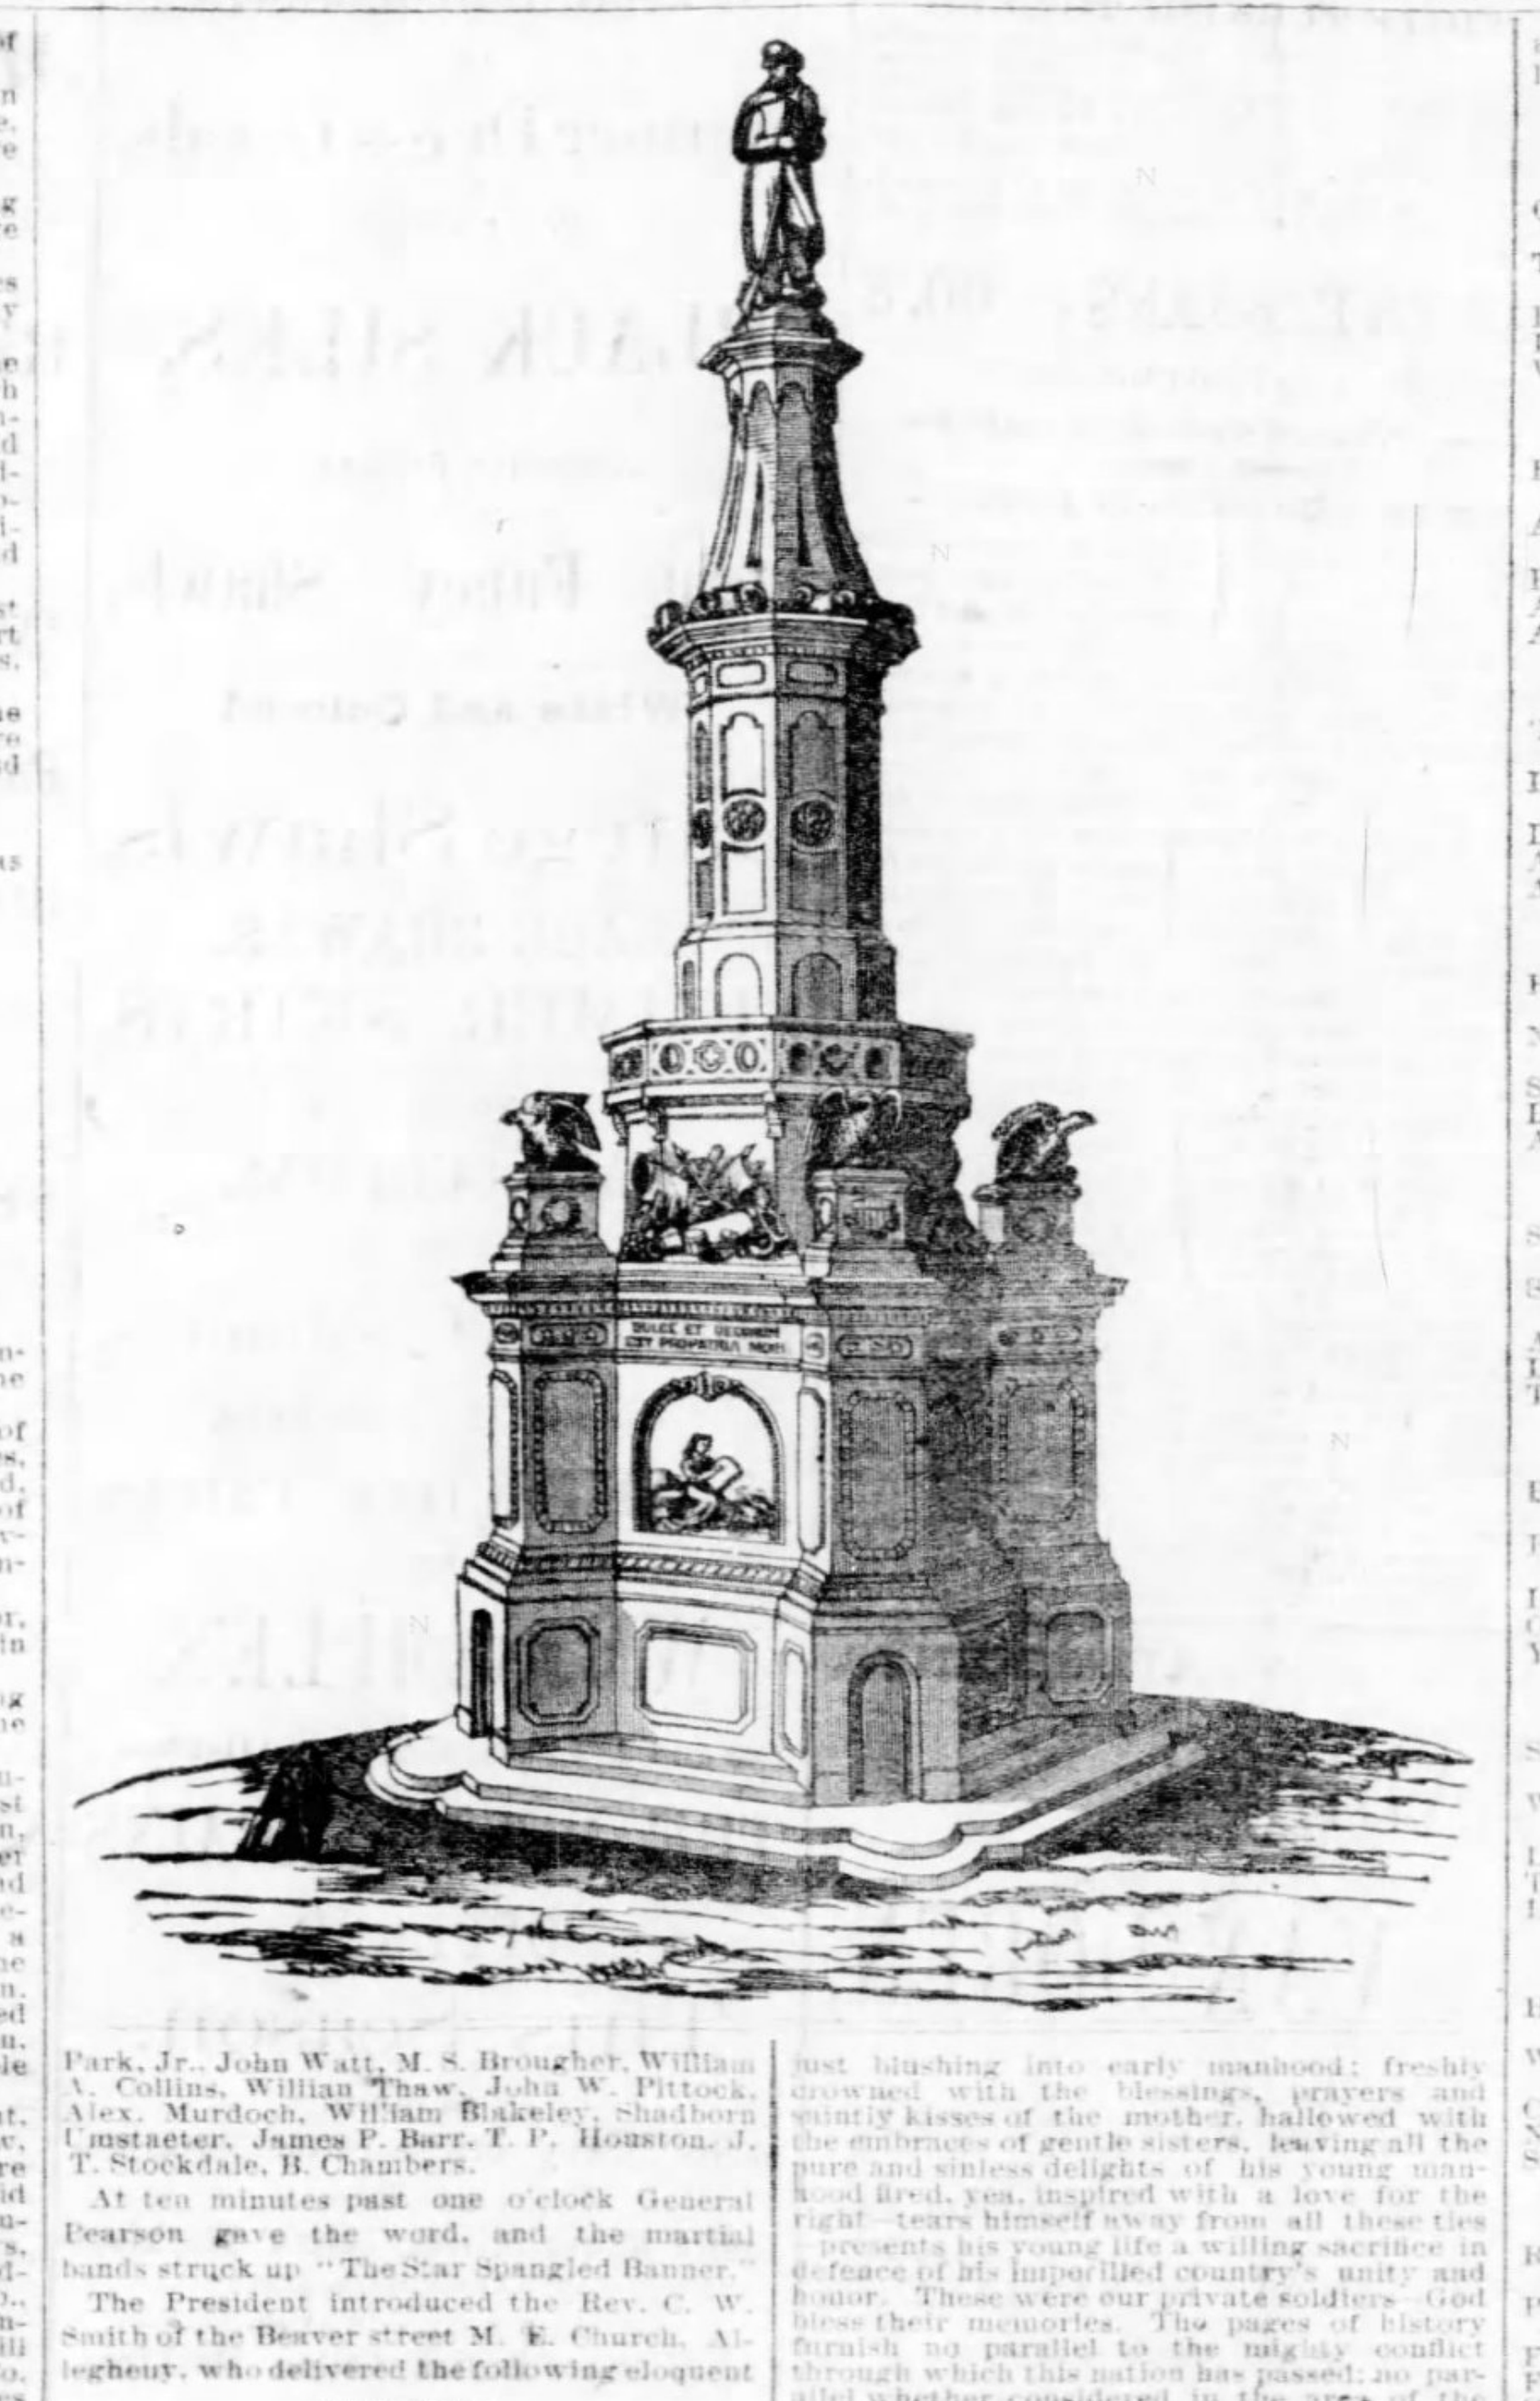
When the ladies had become seated, the exercises were

FORMALLY OPENED.

When the officers of the day, previously selected, were announced as follows:

President—Barclay Preston, Esq.

Vice Presidents—Hon J. K. Moorhead, F. R. Brunot, Lee S. Smith, Samuel McKee, James Park, Jr., John Watt, M. S. Brougher, William A. Collins, William Thaw, John W. Pittock, Alex. Murdoch, William Blakeley, Shadborn Umstaeter, James P. Barr, T. P. Houston, J. T. Stockdale, B. Chambers.



At ten minutes past one o'clock General Pearson gave the word, and the martial bands struck up "The Star Spangled Banner."

The President introduced the Rev. C. W. Smith of the Beaver street M. E. Church, Allegheny, who delivered the following eloquent

INVOCATION.

Great art Thou, O Lord, and greatly to be praised in the city of our God, in the mountain of Thy holiness; for Thou, Lord, hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or even Thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God.

We humble ourselves in Thy presence, for we are weak and sinful in Thy sight, yet we come with gratitude in our hearts and thanksgiving upon our lips at the remembrance of all Thy manifest and boundless mercies.

Assembled on this sad, memorable occasion, we are called upon to thank Thee especially for what we are and what we have as a nation. Thou hast given us this glorious heritage of mountains and hills, rivers and lakes, prairies and fruitful fields. Thou art the God of nations, and we thank Thee that Thou hast shown Thyself the God of our nation, by striking and oft-repeated displays of Thy wisdom and power, in guiding and defending us. Thou didst lead our fathers to this glorious land, and establish and defend them in it. Thou hast been our constant defence. Thou hast gone forth with our armies and caused them always to triumph over foreign foes and domestic enemies.

Thou has directed the formation of this highest form of human government, securing to us and ours the greatest earthly blessings; social, civil and religious liberty. Under its fostering care education, science and religion have erected their homes and temples.

After years of war and strife, we thank Thee, O Lord, for peace—righteous peace—lasting peace—peace which sees the foundation of our Government laid deeper and broader in truth and justice than ever before.

And now, O Lord, as we are met on this impressive occasion, grant us Thy blessing for Jesus' sake. As we call to remembrance and commemorate by monumental pile the patriot dead, who bravely fought and nobly fell for their country, we invoke Thy blessing O Lord, on the cause to which they gave their all. Bless this nation—bless its rulers—direct its Governors—"teach our Senators wisdom." Keep us from foreign misunderstandings and wars, and from internal discord and strife. Preserve, O Lord, especially from the foe and the spoiler our social and religious institutions. Help us to transmit them unimpaired and improved, as the brightest heritage of earth, to our children and children's children.

O, Lord, we earnestly beseech Thee to kindly regard, bountifully provide for, tenderly preserve and lead the widows and orphans of the men to whose memories we erect this monument. Thou art the God of the widow, and fatherless, and we commend them all to Thy tender mercies.

Now, O Lord, bless us in these exercises. May we here, amid these solemn surroundings form high and holy resolutions for the future, and go from this place to be better and truer patriots and christians than ever before. As we lay deeply and securely the foundation of this monument to the memory of the heroic dead, O may it be symbolic of the laying broader and deeper in our hearts, and in the hearts of all the people, the foundation principles of this great Republic—Religion, Liberty, Equality, Fraternity. And long as the earth shall stand, and rocky foundations last, and the towering granite endure, may this monument remain to tell its sublime story, and with it, O Lord, preserve Thou unimpaired and untarnished the institutions and fame of our native land.

"O God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause Thy face to shine upon us; that Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations. Let the people praise Thee, O God; let all the people praise Thee.

Oh let the nations be glad and sing for joy; for Thou shalt judge the people righteously and govern the nations upon earth.

Let the people praise Thee O God; let all the people praise Thee.

Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God, shall bless us. God shall bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear Him."

Grant us these mercies and blessings O God, for the sake of Thy Son, our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

The President now introduced the Hon. Thomas M. Marshall, who had been selected to deliver

"THE ORATION."

As he came forward he was greeted with cordial good will and spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: It is a grand and magnificent spectacle that greets the eye. This numberless multitude, drawn together from their homes, their employments and their daily duties by one common, holy purpose.

In this sea of human faces may be found all classes and conditions of social life—the old and the young, the rich and the poor, the scholar and the unlettered citizen, the student and the active worker, the venerable clergyman, the man of God and the man of the world, the merchant and the mechanic, the laborer and the professional classes, and especially, as ever, woman—a help-meet for man, whilst he seems sinless in the very "image of God."

It was eminently appropriate that the memorial ceremonies of this day should be inaugurated under the auspices and by the hand of Woman. First, always first, in the genial ministries of mercy—first and most unselfish in all the duties of love, her ministry comes with the helplessness of infancy, travels along life's dark and troubled currents, and only closes with the final struggle of expiring existence. Wo to the man, wo to the memory of that man who forgets or denies that Woman, in her near and dear relation of wife and mother, next to God, deserves the love and adoration of the human race.

In the earliest history of mankind we have traces of the efforts of love to preserve and perpetuate the objects of affection. Failing in the preservation of the very objects, the mind and heart, unwilling to part with their idol, strive, by the arts of science, painting and statuary, to keep fresh and present the nearest associations to the real presence. This sentiment of our nature should be cherished and cultivated. We cannot gather the dust of our dead heroes from the hills and valleys of Virginia, the mountains of Tennessee or the other hundred battle fields of the war. We cannot distinguish the dust that composed their bodies in life from the kindred dust. But we may assemble as we have done to-day to lay the corner stone of a Soldiers' Monument in commemoration of the heroic dead. Our noble county gave more than ten thousand, of her sons to the battle field. Where are they? You who listen can best answer. Mourning and bereaved parents, widows and orphans answer! where are they? Hundreds sleep without grave or burial on the battle grounds won by their valor. Thousands passed to their long sleep without the ministries of wife, mother or friend. Where are they? Pious care and personal love have gathered the bones of some of the loves, and they rest in the silent city of the dead, amongst their own people. In the cemetery repose Hays, the brave and lion-hearted. Rippey, youthful, gifted, and eloquent. Black! I may be permitted to pause a moment at that name. He was much misunderstood. He was a great lawyer; a courageous and gallant soldier; a witty, persuasive and brilliant orator. But I must not attempt to name even those familiar to the public ear. Too often we permit our applause to dwell upon the officers—the prominent names—forgetting the unsurpassed host of worthies—the private soldiers; the men who bore the brunt and shock of battle. Who shall speak their eulogium? What eloquent tongue, glowing with the divine gift, shall tell of the heighth and depth, the length and breadth of their pure patriotism. They shouldered the musket and marched to the front without the promptings of ambition; without the hope or expectation of earthly reward. Their names were not in the news bulletin or dispatch. Yet their reward is sure. The rank and file, composed of the farmer, the mechanic, the laborer, the widow's boy, just blushing into early manhood; freshly crowned with the blessings, prayers and saintly kisses of the mother, hallowed with the embraces of gentle sisters, leaving all the pure and sinless delights of his young manhood fired, yea, inspired with a love for the right—tears himself away from all these ties—presents his young life a willing sacrifice in defence of his imperilled country's unity and honor. These were our private soldiers—God bless their memories. The pages of history furnish no parallel to the mighty conflict through which this nation has passed; no parallel whether considered in the area of the conflict, the numbers engaged, the self sacrifice of the participants, or the tremendous force and violence of the collision. Well might foreign powers, Kings, Emperors, statesmen and politicians await and prophecy an ignominious failure. They could neither comprehend the spirit or appreciate the power of our citizen soldiery. Under their government the soldier is a servant, too often the slave of a power which can command him to the field and it may be to die for the propagation of principles and purposes alien to the convictions of his judgment. Not so with us. The civilized world stood wonder-stricken and amazed in witnessing millions of men pressing forward volunteering to fight the bloodiest battles of history. To-day the busy hum of industry is not heard in our cities. The mill with its machinery is idle, shops and places of merchandise and offices are closed. The professional man forsakes his calling, courts of public justice stand adjourned, and this great community consecrates this a sacred holiday.

We are gathered, each one bearing sadly yet proudly the memory of those brave spirits whose memorial shall soon be inaugurated on this eastern slope of Seminary Hill. When the shaft goes up, defined in the sunlight the artist may chisel their four thousand names on its face. Their names, unuttered, are precious and sacred in our hearts. Their fame is secure. It depends not on the monuments built by the skill of man or the cunning of the artificer. "No storied urn or animated bust" can add to or detract from their glory. Their fame will be cherished as long as the nation endures, which their valor rescued from the blighting grasp of human slavery.

Still it is most appropriate that on this eminence we should raise a monument to our country's dead heroes. It is just to ourselves. It is just to those who shall come after us and occupy our places and perform the duties of American citizenship.

This eminence received the name of Seminary Hill from the circumstance that a religious body had a Seminary of instruction erected on its summit. None honor more highly than we do Religion and its noble work and alms. Nevertheless from this day forth let this hill, once pressed by foot of student and professor, change its name. Hereafter let it be known as "Monument Hill."

The ladies having charge of this enterprise baptized it anew to the sacred purpose of commemorating the dead heroes, who died for Religion and liberty—their God and their country.

It is appropriate that the monument should be erected here. Looking eastward, each morning sun will bathe it with an early benison. Here, overlooking two cities, the traveler by rail may look up as he speeds him on his journey, and be reminded that we claim the privilege of commemorating our part in the stupendous struggle for liberty and law. On the other hand, the traveler on the broad bosoms of the Allegheny and Monongahela may, from the craft or steamer, discern that amidst the ambitions and excitements of thrifty business life, we have not forgotten that the peace and prosperity which dwells over the land was purchased at the priceless cost of thousands of our bravest and our best.

This monument will have a still higher office. It will stand as a witness between the living and dead. It will be a witness against us if we prove recreant to the solemn trusts committed to our keeping. This grand inheritance of freemen, to be measured from the rock-bound coast of the Atlantic Ocean to the golden shores of the Pacific. It is ours in trust. Never before did the Great grant a heritage so momentous to the frailty of human guardianship—embracing within its boundaries over forty millions of free men. The boundless riches of seas, the wealth of waters in lakes and rivers; soils varied, rich, deep and fruitful; untold and unexplored wealth of metals; gold and silver at the hand of labor for the mining. All this, many times told, would still leave our wealth and resources undescribed.

Above all we have human freedom, with room and verge enough for the exercise of all her powers, freedom of person, freedom of will, freedom of action; not an acre touched by the foot of a slave. No man need call another man master. How grand the thought! How immense the trust! American citizens, do you comprehend its magnitude? The avenues of thought open wide and boundless. Fathers! Mothers! What an inheritance for our children.

Commensurate with the trust is the responsibility.

We must prove ourselves worthy of the inheritance, or it will by a sure law pass away from our keeping. Sluggard hands can never grasp and hold the gift. The sleepless vigilance of our highest powers is demanded for the preservation of the grand domain.

It is our duty to teach our children by monuments, by precepts, by example, by all known modes of instruction, the value of this inheritance.

It is well to place on this eminence a memorial to remind coming generations that this inheritance was purchased by toil, struggle and death.

Nine years ago Treason uplifted its impious form in the Southern States, avowing boldly that the charter of our liberties was a falsehood; that human slavery should be made the corner stone of our national fabric. Many doubted and feared, some fainted, more sympathized with the treason; the wisest, the bravest and the best paused—the brightest vision could discern no clear way in the political heavens. Nine years past, gone and recorded. Their history is yet unwritten; their scenes and events are too fresh for the pen of impartial history. Many of the actors in the tragedy are still alive; it would be unwise and discourteous to set forth my judgment.

Treason discomfitted, overthrown and subjugated, seeks in vain for her idol. Where is the slave? Where is the down-trodden, oppressed African? The answer comes from the Senate chamber of the nation, from the Legislative halls of the Southern States—Where is the oppressor?

> "Though those that are betrayed
> Do feel the treason sharply,
> Yet
> the traitor stands in worse case of woe."

Nine years ago human eyes could not penetrate the unraveled darkness of the future. To-day the land is breathing in full generous health.

"Here the free spirit of mankind at length throws its last fetters off. Who shall place a limit to the giant's unchained strength, or curb his swiftness in the forward race."

In this commemoration of the dead, let us not forget those left with us. Many familiar faces and well remembered forms, who passed through the storms of battles, have returned to the discharge of life's quiet, peaceful duties; they, too, have claims upon the gratitude of their countrymen. Let us not forget the maimed soldiers and soldiers' orphans. Let not our patriotism exhaust itself in outward show—in flowers and granite columns. Let us covenant on this holy ground to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, and fulfill faithfully and tenderly all our duties to the living and the dead.

During the delivery of the address the people gathered around the platform reserved the most intense and thrilling silence, which was only disturbed by the martial music wafted by the breeze from the foot of the hill, where the bands were engaged in playing solemn dirges. At its conclusion, a cordial round of applause broke in upon the exercises which was interupted by a dedicatory hymn sung by a class of 150 young misses from the First, Second, Fifth and Sixth wards, under the leadership of Prof. W. H. Slack, assisted by the Allegheny Quartette. The fair young choir seemed perfectly drilled and feelingly touched every heart as they sang the following beautiful song of

"THE SOLDIER'S MEMORIAL DAY."

Rev. T. N. Boyle, of the South Common M. E. church, Allegheny, was then introduced, and in a clear, strong voice and very impressive manner read the dedicatory poem of

"DECORATION DAY."

BY BARTLEY T. CAMPBELL.

I.

On this blithsome, mild May morning,
We have come with flowers gay
To honor those who, life scorning,
Fell amid the deadly fray;
Fell for Freedom stricken gory;
Fell brave youth and grandsire hoary;
Who, alas! can tell your story,
Silent brothers turned to clay?

II.

By the rolling Mississippi
Fell great WILLIAMS, tried and true,
And our own proud martial, RIPPEY,
Where the stately Fair Oaks grew.
BLACK'S heart's blood he left at Gaines's;
At Coal Harbor MCILWAINE'S is,
And at Shiloh graceful LANE'S is,
Buried 'neath the silent yew.

III.

'Mid the din, and roar, and rattle,
On that dreadful July day,
Last of seven days of battle,
Martyred POLAND passed away
Dying, 'mid the cannon's thunder,
As the rebel flag went under,
As we tore their ranks asunder,
As the Blue swept back the Gray.

IV.

Hark! I hear the steady beating
Of a distant spectral drum,
Now advancing, now retreating,—
Ah! at last they come, they come!
See! from out each dell and valley,
How the serried columns sally,
And around their leaders rally,
With no cry, nor shout, nor hum.

V.

Silently they come to greet us
From a land beyond the tide;
See them smile as now they meet us
Father, mother, sister, bride!
Ah! this shade our noblest, best is;
Look! there JACKSON'S blood-stained breast is;
There where MOODY'S courtly crest is,
Nodding in its wonted pride.

VI.

Here, before this spectral legion,
Strew ye flowers rich and rare—
Fairest offerings of our region,
Breathing incense on the air;
Incense for the valiant-hearted,
Our darling dead—our dear departed—
Ye from whom we sadly parted—
Scatter rose and lily fair.

VII.

See them smiling in their gladness,
As we deck the lowly sod,
Where we laid their forms in sadness,
Bowing to the Father's rod.
Look! their faces beam with beauty,
They who bravely did their duty,
Liberty their only booty,
Their commander Christ, our God.

VIII.

Here, above the triple rivers,
And the cities, darkly grim,
Where the sunlight softly quivers,
Close to earth and near to Him,
Carve the name of HAYS, the soldier;
Never lived their warrior bolder—
Shall his memory with him molder?
Or shall PATTERSON'S grow dim?

IX.

Raise ye now the lofty column
To the good, the true, the brave;
Peal ye forth the anthem solemn—
Where's thy victory now, O, grave?
Firmly lay the broad foundation,
Fit work for a grateful nation;
Orphans' tears—a sweet libation
Shall this masonry lave.

When the reading of the poem had been completed, the ladies of the Monumental Association again formed in line, and, escorted by the members of the Building Committee, walked from the platform through the double ranks of soldiers where the corner stone was to be laid. By a special resolution of the Association, passed several days ago, this last and most interesting duty was assigned to the President, Mrs. Samuel McKee. The selection was in the highest degree fitting. The first to take hold of the work, always energetic and indefatigable in pushing it forward, devoting time and money and peculiar tact to the enterprise, it was well that she should be selected to perform the last act which signaled the triumph of the idea.

TO THE FOUNDATION.

The exercises were very simple, and yet in their simplicity were the more impressive. Five standard-bearers were ranged around, and the folds of the flags, mingling with each other, shaded the spot upon which all eyes were centered.

THE BOX,

a hermetically-sealed oblong memento, was produced, and, after being lowered into its receptacle, the announcement of its contents was made as follows:

Copy of the Holy Bible.
Hand-book of Pennsylvania.
List of the Heads of Departments of the United States.
List of the Heads of Departments of the State of Pennsylvania.
List of the Officers of Allegheny county.
List of the Officers of the City of Pittsburgh.
List of the Officers of the City of Allegheny.
List of the Judges of Allegheny County.
List of the Officers of the Monumental Association.
List of the Members of the Monumental Association.
Copy of the Charter of the Monumental Association.
Copies of the Newspapers of Allegheny County.
Copy of the Report of the Park Commissioners.
Copy of the Fire Marshal's Report.
Copy of the City Directory for 1870.
Pieces of coin and currency in circulation in 1870.

It was then the work of but a few moments to spread the mortar, lower the stone into its place, when Mrs. McKee, with a highly polished miniature silver trowel, cemented the mass in position, tried it with the level, and pronounced the work complete.

Quietly and thus simply the corner stone was laid of a memorial which in after time will speak more eloquently than tongue or pen of a people's gratitude to departed saviours give aid to the patriot at every glance a fresh inspiration of devotion and courage, and love for his land.

The simple exercises being over, the mass of people closely wedged in around the site, remained standing in silence, many with heads uncovered as the "children choir," led by Prof. Slack, joined in again in a beautiful tribute to

THE UNRETURNING BRAVE.

BY MISS SUE B. NICHOL.

Now the battle din is ended, and the victory is won,
And the weary reapers calmly rest in sleep—
On the battle field of glory, where the mighty work was done.
While the stars their holy watch above them keep.

No, no, no—they'll never, never come,
With victor trophies waving high—
But the cold and silent marble, mutely pointing to the sky,
Tells the story that will never, never die.

Who shall count the fallen heroes—who shall count the unknown graves?
Ask the winds of north and south that idly play—
Round the green and nameless earth mounds, o'er the ever moaning waves
Where the missing ones were scattered in the fray.

No, no, no—they'll never, never come,
With victor trophies waving high—
But the cold and silent marble, mutely pointing to the sky,
Tells the story that will never die.

Let the storied column tower, till it reach the ether blue,
And wreath its head in crown of sunlight glow;
While the scroll and chiseled tablet writes the story out anew,
And the river sings the requiem song below.

No, no, no—they'll never, never come,
With victor trophies waving high—
But the cold and silent marble, mutely pointing to the sky,
Tells the story that will never, never die.

As the song ceased the venerable Rev. Dr. Page, of Allegheny, came forward and stepped upon the stone just laid, from which he dismissed the assembled multitudes with the solemn benediction.

The only event which marred the occasion in the slightest, came in just here, when the band, mistaking their time, struck up before the minister had concluded. It seemed to be one of those untoward accidents which no provision can prevent. The people listened to the "Grand Hymn" (a late importation from the Boston Jubilee), and as it ceased slowly began to descend the elevation,—no more Seminary, but hereafter to be known only as Monument Hill.

VISITING THE GRAVES.

The procession, in line, did not march to the graves of the soldiers, but the members of the Grand Army and the friends of the dead performed that sad, yet pleasing duty well. Early in the morning the representatives of the district between the rivers, proceeded to the Allegheny, St. Mary's and other graveyards and adorned each martial grave with flags and flowers. The roads and pathways within the sacred enclosures, were thronged with women and children who came to decorate the hillocks which covered all that remained of some father, son or brother who fell during the fearful strife. On the South Side, at seven o'clock in the morning, the members of Post 151, visited the four or five cemeteries in that region, and left behind them floral tokens of their visit. Addresses were delivered by prominent members, and the beautiful ceremonies appropriate to the day were there concluded before that delegation joined the monumental procession. In Allegheny, after the ceremonies on the hill were completed, the delegation from that city marched to Uniondale Cemetery, carrying their flowers and flags with them, and depositing them upon the graves, many of which were already blooming with the flowers which loving hands had placed there in the morning. This part of the day's remembrance, while not so formal as on the first anniversary, was yet, in its spontanaiety and quietude, the more loving and tender and sacred. While all engaged in the ceremonies around the monumental site, yet the interest clustered there did not prevent loving hearts and hands from recalling, in a still more beautiful exercise, the memory and nobleness and heroism of those whose last warfare was over, and who slept the sleep which knows no waking. Impressive was the laying of the corner-stone: beautiful and hallowing were the scenes around the distant graves in the quiet cemeteries.

It were better thus that the veil should be drawn over the widow and orphan and the bereaved one, as with hearts bowed down with a sacred sorrow they yet found a sweet joy in performing the holy ministries of affection and tender remembrance.

INCIDENTS—PRESENTATION.

In the morning, just before the assembling of the column, an interesting scene occurred at the residence of Mr. Samuel McKee, Penn street, Twelfth ward. The ladies of the Monumental Association, wishing to express their appreciation of the services rendered them by Gen. Pearson, decided as a fitting memento of the occasion to make him the recipient of the beautiful division flag, which was borne at the head of the procession. This was a white silk square, bound with a deep blue border, mounted with a handsome cord and tassels on the flagstaff, and bearing as a central inscription the figures 18. It was one of the most beautiful banners in the line, and was universally admired by spectators and participants in the military exercises.

Mr. Barclay Preston, in behalf of the ladies, presented the gift with a few felicitous words, to which Gen. Pearson responded happily. The little incident was one of the most pleasurable of the day.

SOME EXCITEMENT.

While the people were coming down the hill after the ceremonies, some excitement was created by the capering of a horse ridden by Mr. W. B. Hunker, one of the Chief Marshal's Staff. The animal would easily have been brought under control but that the rider was precipitated to the ground by the bursting of the saddle girth. He retained his grasp, however, of the head line, and prevented a serious accident by that means. The ladies scattered in affright in all directions, the children screamed, and the men even felt a fear, but the skill of the horseman was sufficient. The animal was brought into subjection in a few moments, and then quietly led away, when the excitement subsided.

ACCIDENT.

Wm. Lentz, a member of the Turner delegation, was thrown off his horse at the corner of Third avenue and Market street. His head struck the curb-stone, inflicting a painful scalp wound. He was taken into an office in the vicinity where the wound was properly dressed. He was otherwise uninjured.

BIBULOUS AND OTHERWISE.

Upon the conclusion of the ceremonies, Mr. John W. Pittock, with his delegation of newsboys, which was a prominent feature in the demonstration, returned to the city, and marching by a restaurant with his tired and hungry brigade, provided them with a substantial lunch, which was dispatched with a relish peculiar to newsboys on similar occasions.

Innumerable temporary drinking fountains were erected along the line of march by miniature Astors intent upon turning the day into one of profit as well as memory. They were well patronized, and must have reaped a rich harvest from the lemonade and other gentle stimulants disposed of.

There were many weary ones at the last night, but none who had not memories of the day pleasurable and joyous, tempered, perhaps, with a shade of sadness which will indelibly impress it in the remembrance of those events, which come not too often in the changeful journey of life. All looked forward to it with peculiar anticipations; as it passes away into the tomb of the years, it goes freighted with experiences which once felt can never be forgotten. May the remembrance of the lessons of the hour so influence those who have learned them, that in the future, more even than in the past, patriotism will be made stronger, veneration for the departed, who have given all, be more vivified, and our love for our dear land strengthened into a higher and holier devotion, and a more fervid, unquenchable zeal in her cause. These are the lessons of Decoration Day.

GOING DOWN OF THE SUN

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 30.—Decoration Day has been observed with more than usual ceremony in this city and vicinity. Flags were displayed at half mast on the City Hall, the shipping in the harbor, and on many private dwellings. The different posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, under the direction of Colonel Marshall, Grand Marshal, formed in Union Square at 9 A. M. The line of march was down Broadway to Wall street ferry. On reaching the Brooklyn side the division was received by the Kings County Post, and escorted to the cars for Cypress Hills Cemetery.

In the city procession there were several large trucks filled with floral offerings, and wagons and stages in which were seated veterans of the late war and pupils of Union Home and School.

At the Cemetery the exercises were as follows: Opening dirge by Governor's Island band; ode by the Brooklyn Choral Union, followed by prayer and singing by the children of Union Home and School for Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans; the introductory address; oration by James R. McKean; choral ode, "My Country 'tis of Thee;" benediction; strewing flowers on the graves, and closing dirge.

Letters were read from President Grant, Admiral Farragut, Gen. McClellan, Gov. Hoffman, Vice President Colfax, Secretary Belknap, and others, expressing regret at their inability to attend.

The celebration concluded this evening with memorial exercises at the Academy of Music.

The graves at New York Bay Cemetery were decorated by the military and citizens of Jersey City.

At the memorial celebration at the Academy of Music to-night in honor of the Union dead, resolutions were passed urging on the Senate of the United States to constitute Decoration Day a national holiday.

WASHINGTON CITY.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The city wears the appearance of a general holiday. Congress is not in session, all the departments are closed and little secular business is transacted. All the available vehicles were in motion during the forenoon and long before noon thousands of persons collected on the grounds of the soldiers' cemetery at Arlington. The arrangements were more perfect and elaborate than heretofore.

The ceremonies commenced at one o'clock, when a national salute of twenty-one guns was fired by Dupont's light battery.

The Marine Band then performed a dirge, written for the occasion. The assemblage was then called to order at the main stand, which was filled with distinguished visitors, while the space in front was filled with persons for whom seats had been erected. Major Timothy Lubey, Department Commander, called the assemblage to order. After prayer by Rev. Dr. Newman, a grand chorus, consisting of 500 singers, sang, "A strong castle is our Lord," the full Marine band accompanying them. Dr. C. C. Cox read a poem written by himself for the occasion. One of Mozart's compositions was then rendered by the choir and Marine band, after which General Logan, Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R., was introduced and delivered an oration. The chorus "Sleepers' Wake," by Mendelshohn, was sung, and the assemblage proceeded to the tombs of unknown soldiers, where Rev. Benj. Swallow, Chaplain of the Department of the Potomac, offered a prayer. "The Children of the Fallen Braves," by J. Williams Pope, was then sung, and the ceremony at the tombs of unknown performed by orphans from National Soldiers' and Sailors' Home. The chorus and Marine band then rendered the American hymn by Keller.

The ceremony of decorating the graves throughout the Cemetery by the assemblage then took place, and soon every grassy mound was covered with beautiful flowers, arranged in wreaths and boquets, crosses, &c.

The graves of Generals Reno, Griffin, Meigs, and other Union Generals at Oak Hill Cemetery were this morning decorated.

After the ceremonies closed at the National Cemetery, the decoration of the graves of colored soldiers' graves just north of it took place.

ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—Thousands of people are leaving for Jefferson Barracks to decorate the graves of soldiers buried in the National Cemetery there, and thousands more will start before the ceremonies are begun. The weather is pleasant and Memorial Day promises to be more generally observed in this vicinity than on any previous occasion.

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—Memorial day was celebrated with much solemnity. Several thousand people of all classes were present at the National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks, where over ten thousand bodies repose. The ceremonies consisted of a very eloquent oration by Gen. Isaac Shepherd, a memorial poem by Judge Rombauer, oration in German by Major Rossieur, interspersed with music by the Haymakers' singing club and a full brass band. The graves were then profusely decorated with flowers and wreaths, nearly every person on the ground participating in the mournful ceremony.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The ceremony of decorating the soldiers' graves was carried out to-day in accordance with the programme previously prepared. The more formal ceremonies took place at Rose Hill Cemetery, where there was a very large attendance.

In connection with the ceremonies at this place, the general military monument, erected by Cook county and the Board of Trade of Chicago, and Bridge's battery monument, were dedicated. Addresses were delivered with special reference to the general military monument by General Hasbrouck Davis, and with special reference to the Bridge's battery monument by General A. C. Ducat. There were also religious services and music, both vocal and instrumental.

DETROIT.

DETROIT, May 30.—Memorial day was observed throughout the State generally, especially in the afternoon in this city. The procession was very long and included military and civic organizations, and many prominent men. The formal ceremonies took place at Elmwood Cemetery, where there were fully ten thousand persons assembled.

COLUMBUS, O.

COLUMBUS, May 30.—Decoration day was observed here by the closing of all business houses and a display of flags at half mast. Thousands of people visited Green Lawn Cemetery where the memorial ceremonies took place at three o'clock in the afternoon. In the center of a plot of ground, where there are buried four hundred and ninety soldiers, a beautiful floral monument thirty-five feet high had been erected. The flowers were strewn by eighty small girls, clothed in white. An oration was delivered by Rev. E. Cranston, an old soldier, and a recitation given by Col. S. A. Norris who lost a leg in the service.

TERRE HAUTE, IND.

TERRE HAUTE, May 30.—Decoration Day was observed here in the most interesting and impressive manner. The business houses were closed, and several thousand people went to the Cemetery. Music, prayer, and an address by Colonel Richard Thompson preceded the ceremony of placing floral wreaths upon the soldiers' graves.

LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 30.—Decoration Day was observed here with imposing ceremonies. There was a large assemblage of persons at Cave Hill Cemetery this afternoon. Wagon loads of flowers were taken to the Cemetery and strewn over the grounds. Orations were delivered by Captain Benninger and General Eli H. Murray. The day has been beautiful.

NEW ENGLAND.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

OFFICIAL PAPER
Of Pittsburgh, Allegheny City and Allegheny County.

GAZETTE BUILDING:
Corner of Sixth Avenue and Smithfield Street.

TUESDAY, MAY 31, 1870.

BONDS at Frankfort, 95½@95⅝.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, quiet and steady.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 114⅞.

FROM Venango, we learn that Gilfillan carried the county two to one, in favor of his re-nomination for Congress.

WE hear from Beaver county that the primary elections of last Saturday were so close, between Henry and Weyand for Congress, and Shurlock and Chandler for the Assembly, as to make the results doubtful.

THE President has laid before the Senate a supplementary convention with San Domingo, by which the period for exchanging ratification of the treaty of annexation is extended to the first of July next. The Executive also sent in the new naturalization treaty with Great Britain.

IT IS NOW thought that the Funding question will go to a Conference Committee of the two Houses, with a likelihood of a final compromise upon two classes of bonds—one to be 4 or 4½ per cent. at 30 or 40 years, and the other, for banking use, to be 4 per cent. free of tax and other restrictions, making it about 5 per cent. net. The only objection to such a discrimination would be that it looks the wrong way.

PITTSBURGH has a journal which, since it was kicked out of the Republican confidence for its notorious dishonesty, has been frequently concerned for the integrity of our party. Its apprehensions are quite superfluous. It would be as difficult for the Republicans of Allegheny to do a dishonest thing without its complicity, as to expect its cordial aid in any reputable work. All the dangers of the situation ceased when an indignant public sentiment pilloried that organ of "honesty and reform" as a convicted accomplice of the most notorious public thieves. It stands for the present a target for dead cats and bad eggs, and takes its revenge in making ugly faces and reviling all decent people.

THE commemoration of our soldier dead, by the people of these cities, yesterday, was a deeply impressive proof of public intelligence and patriotism. It is evident that, as a day set apart for the hearty observance of an entire people, abstaining from all other occupations, Decoration Day has already become the day of the year. No other day, whether of feast or of fast, of pleasure or of sorrow, so completely secures the approving hearts of the American people. The day was marked, last year, by an extraordinary exhibition of the public interest, but yesterday's celebration certainly exceeded, as a popular demonstration, anything yet witnessed, on any non-partisan occasion, in these cities. Our reports will afford to distant readers a faithful chronicle of its scenes and transactions.

IT is not grateful to hear from Washington of the singular record which is making for a Representative from one of our adjoining (not the 22nd or 23d) districts. He was chosen by Republicans, on a Republican platform, to represent a people almost a unit, regardless of party, in favor of protection to home industry. Yet, he either votes with the free-trade wing, or does not vote at all, on nearly every question involving that principle. The weakest, he is also regarded as the most unreliable member, in a delegation upon which he is always a dead weight, and, whatever his constituents may think, every friend of their interests at Washington concurs in the hope that his Congressional career will end with the next session, and that an intelligent Republican district will replace him with a sound and more faithful representative.

A PARAGRAPH printed in the form of a communication in the "honesty and reform" newspaper yesterday, "freely declares that we are not fitly represented in the Lower House of Congress." Our virtuous neighbor don't like a man whom he can't use. Gen. NEGLEY has done his duty, his whole duty, and nothing but his duty by the Republicans who elected him, and by the people whose faithful servant he is. He has steadily declined to prostitute his influence to the private uses of the newspaper alluded to, or to subserve the personal selfish interests of the omnibus load of decayed broker politicians, and "honesty and reform" corruptionists, who run that newspaper. We need add no more, in defense of any Republican whom they assail, than to remind the public how abundantly experience has proved that they combine in their standard of public duty the politics of a Greek brigand with the morality of a New York or Harrisburg pickpocket. JAMES S. NEGLEY, the sincere Republican, brave soldier, honorable gentleman, vigilant and faithful Representative, regarding and upholding the interests of his district as always paramount to any personal considerations, needs no defense against such enemies in this community.

REPUBLICAN USAGES.

We observe an announcement in a local journal of the Crawford district that "George K. Anderson, of Titusville, will be a candidate for the State Senate, subject to the usages of the Republican party." We trust that this citizen will not fail to reap the fullest benefit from "Republican usages." Among those usages, a leading one is to respect the validity of a regular nomination, where fairly obtained by a Republican in good standing, as to record and principles, with his party. It is not the usage of the Republican party to bolt from any nomination of that character. It is the usage of all parties to repudiate, promptly and decisively, all "nominations" which do not fill these conditions.

No usage therefore can protect the position of this man Anderson as a Republican candidate. He has himself trampled upon all the usages of the party, within the past year, and done his level best to destroy its organization. He was the main engineer of the legislative bolt of last winter, which defeated the regular and fair nomination of an honest and capable officer, whose position was recommended by the established usages of the party, and gave the election to another man who had been fairly beaten according to those usages, and who certainly did not possess any superior personal, political or official qualifications for the place. It was to the labors, the money and the personal influence of this George K. Anderson that we owed the defection of thirteen members elected as Republicans, some of whom had taken part in the nominating caucus, and who, without a shadow of a just excuse, struck hands with the Democracy and trampled Republican usages, the integrity of the party, under their feet. Then and since, the State has rung with the disgraceful recital of the particular features of Mr. Anderson's crusade against the usages of our party. Was it according to those usages to pay cash for votes for his favorite in a nominating caucus? When this "usage" was exposed, and his candidate thereby defeated, was it "usage" to organize a bolt thereupon, and carry enough of his creatures over to the enemy's camp to secure, with their help, a majority for another of his tools? These things may be "usage" in Crawford or Erie, but not if the people know it! He will find out their opinion of such "usages," if he remains a candidate until October.

Of him and his colleagues in that business, we have only to say this: that they did thus put themselves, by their own choice, outside of the party pale; that they have no longer the shadow of any claim to a Republican standing; that the usages which they have violated not only forbid their future recognition as members of our organization, but must be vindicated against each and all of them whenever an opportunity offers; and that the impudence of an appeal to "Republican usages," by such men as Anderson, Ames, McCreary, Bowman, Leslie, Craig, McCracken, Wheeler, or any other of the bolters of last January, can only be rebuked by regarding them, each and all, as political frauds, whom no "nominations," which they may secure this year for themselves, can entitle to the support of honest Republicans. As frauds, they should be spurned at the primary elections and repudiated at the polls. Let the people elect them, if they will, but the party should let them severely alone.

Especially, should this man Anderson be defeated at any honorable cost. It would be infinitely better that the district should elect an honest, straight-out Democrat for the Senate, rather than him. Far better to choose some decent opponent, who would neither give bribes nor take them, who would alike cling to his party, love the Commonwealth, respect the laws, be faithful to principle and duty according to his lights, and whom we could respect even when standing against us—than to disgrace Republicanism and to outrage the public sentiment by the elevation of this man to any office by Republican votes.

Vote against him, Republican friends, our readers in Crawford and Erie! We urge you, vote against him at your primary meetings, and if need be at the October polls! A score of nominations can give him no title to your support. As a Republican, he is a fraud—and fraud vitiates all contracts! Have nothing to do with him, except to wash your hands of him, and of all who support such a fraud upon the party. Mark in that decisive way your respect for the usages of Republicanism, your regard for the honor and the interests of the Commonwealth, and your profound detestation for his principles! You have in your district plenty of good men, honest, law-abiding, capable and faithful, sincere Republicans, whose election would honor and not disgrace your district. Give your support to some such citizen. Don't touch this man Anderson, or either of his creatures, like Ames or Bowman or McCreary, on any plea whatever! They are not and never will be Republicans. Respond to their appeals to "Republican usages," by branding them as frauds, counterfeits, impudent shams. Spurn their "nominations" as tricks upon your party and withhold from them your support, at whatever cost!

That crowd talks of Republican usages!

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

THE COLORADO BEETLE.

As we hear that this new potato insect is already damaging the young vines just as they are coming up, we wish to call the attention of all who may be annoyed in this way to the use of Paris green, a substance of moderate price, usually kept at drug stores, as a remedy for the evil.

This remedy has sometimes failed from not having been properly applied. It should be mixed with wheat flour, which, being moistened by the dew, forms a paste which prevents the Paris green from being blown off or otherwise removed from the vines. It is usually mixed in the proportion of one part Paris green to six of flour, but it has succeeded in as low a proportion as one to ten. I met an intelligent farmer from Minnesota recently, who informed me that he used on his large potato fields last year twelve dollars' worth of Paris green and saved his crops. He said he had no definite rule for mixing it, but thought that he did not use more than a half pound of Paris green to a peck of flour.

CULTIVATING CORN.

The planter will see the necessity of keeping the cultivator and the hoe a-going, not only to keep the crop clean, but also to open the soil to the influences of the atmosphere, and this is particularly necessary in times of drought, as the plants then stand most in need of the moisture to be received from the dews and atmosphere, and by stirring the soil it is the more freely enabled to retain as well as to attract the nutritive elements in the air, which are acknowledged by all scientific men as being rich in the food of plants. The uses of the plow in the after cultivation of the crop should be avoided, and we will but briefly again allude to them. In the first place, it is liable to lacerate or cut off and bruise the roots, and thus deprive them of their natural medium of feeding, and prevents them for a time, until new roots are formed, of obtaining their necessary food from the earth; and secondly, because the plow is apt to turn up the manure to the surface, to be bleached and deprived of its volatile or ammoniacal elements, which, as every one knows, are the most nutritive portions thereof, and which insure the vigorous growth of the plants. Therefore, after the plants are well up, discard the use of the plow, and apply the hoe and the cultivator as often as the soil may be found necessary to be stirred, or the grass kept down.

THE FARMER'S SHOP.

Every farmer should have a shop fitted up with such tools as are used by the carpenter, joiner, machinist and blacksmith, or with those that would be valuable in making repairs. Above all we consider a good foot lathe very desirable. It would be impossible within the limits of a newspaper article, to merely notice the advantage of this machine and its varied uses. A very good foot lathe costs from sixty to one hundred dollars, and the money is well expended in the purchase. Articles of use and ornament made of wood, ivory and metal may be turned out by the foot lathe, convenient for use in the house or on the farm. The practice on the lathe is one of the most fascinating pastimes for a stormy day or an unemployed evening. Apart from its use in making and repairing, the foot lathe is a pleasant companion for the business haunted and brain-weary. One who adopts it as a companion of his leisure hours will become an adept, and the more he uses and becomes acquainted with his machine the better he will like it. He will be surprised at the number and elegance of the little articles of use and ornament he can produce from the rough material, and at the pleasure that the practice of a mechanical art can afford.—Scientific American.

LOOK AT YOUR GRAPES.

Burning of the odds and ends of tobacco, to be obtained at some stores and at all tobacconists, for two or three cents per pound, is the best thing to smoke out all the early vermin from the grapery; and just now is a delicate time to watch the vines to see that they are free from these enemies. The smoking, however, should be done without regard to their presence. It is a protection. No one who knows anything about raising grapes under glass, will water the vines while they are blossoming. But when this is fully over the large syringe should thoroughly sprinkle everything inside, including vines, soil, glass, &c., twice or thrice a day. This must be accompanied with powdered sulphur, placed in the vicinity of every river as a protection against mildew; and should mildew unfortunately make its appearance, the vines themselves should be sprinkled with it.

Just now the out door grapes are liable to suffer from the steel blue bug, which feeds upon the blossom, and leaves behind its progeny, the small brown maggot that feeds ravenously upon the leaves, and seriously damaging whatever of the crop left by the bug. A solution of whale-oil, soap and water is sudden death to them; but the larvæ are difficult to get at, and the best way to destroy them is to go over the vines and use the thumb and finger. Last year they were very few and they did but little damage, and there may be no damage from them this year, but the vines should be carefully gone over—and not an hour should be lost in doing so.—Germantown Telegraph.

WASHING THE BARK OF TREES.

If it has not been done before, no time should now be lost in washing the trunks of all fruit trees with some solution to soften the bark, destroy insects which harbor under its rough surfaces, and thus enable it to perform its office in the circulation of the tree, by admitting the descent of the sap. Where it is scaly, hard and impenetrable, as we often see, especially in old trees, this sap is impeded in its course, and becomes congested, an unhealthy condition of the tree results, and the fruit is knotty and imperfect. Insects are also much more liable to attack both tree and fruit, in an unhealthy condition of the bark, or indeed of any other of its important organisms.

On the farm no cheaper and more effective remedy is at hand than a mixture of equal proportion of soft soap and lye. Give one or two applications, according to circumstances, to the body of the tree, as high as one can reach, and to where the branches fork. One pound of potash dissolved in a gallon of water will answer the same purpose. Apply with a whitewash brush, and in hard cases we have often used a hand-scrub. The bark of a tree should be soft and pliable, so as to be easily indented with the finger nail.

Avoid whitewash in all cases, not only as a matter of taste, conveying the idea of whited sepulchres and graveyards to an orchard where there should be only the most vigorous life, but also because in our observation it makes the bark hard when it is wanted to be softened. It should certainly be borne in mind that no tree can bear fine and perfect fruit, which will sell well, if it is unhealthy or unthrifty from any cause. Vigorous, healthy life, constant thrift, should be the watchword for fruit trees, and this requires the unremitting care of fruit growers. The time has gone by when, as in the early settlement of the country and with a virgin soil, vegetation of any kind will take care of itself.—Practical Farmer.

TOP DRESSING.

One reason why grass crops run out is because they are fed too late in the fall, or over fed. In the spring they should not be fed at all. Cutting some kinds of grass too low is often very injurious. When the top of the root of herdgrass is taken up by mowing or feeding too close by sheep, it begins to fail, and the owner is at a loss to know why it has run out so soon, little thinking that this close shaving of the roots is the cause of his loss and disappointment.—Maine Farmer.

HANGING BASKETS.—I imagine many of my little country cousins are wising they had one of those pretty tasty ornaments. I will just tell you how they can be made without much trouble and with still less expense. Take a set of worn out hoops, those that will bend but not break; many such can be found about almost every house in the land. Strips of tin cut very narrow, will make excellent fastenings, although care must be taken in using, or your fingers will suffer severely. Now with a piece of wire for the rim and handle (or the button hoop of the skirt can be substituted, as it is generally larger than the others) you have the desired material for your hanging basket. Perhaps if you would ask father or brother very kindly some time when they are at leisure, you might procure their assistance, which would be very desirable in attaching the hoops to the rim. After finishing your basket, line it with moss, and fill with rich soil mixed with sand; put in any climbing plant which you desire and hang in a shady place. Keep moist by watering quite freely.—Hearth and Home.

A SUMMER DRINK.—Prepare a five gallon keg (a ten gallon if you prefer,) in proportion to the size of the family—draw a piece of coarse bobinet, or very coarse book-muslin over the end of the faucet that is inserted into the keg, to prevent its choking, a good tight bung, and near to that a gimblet hole, with a peg to fit in tight. For five gallons take one quart of sound corn, put into the keg, with half a gallon of molasses; then fill with cold water to within two inches of the bung. Shake well, and in two or three days it will be fit for use. Bung tight. If you want spruce flavor, add one teaspoon of essence of spruce—lemon, if lemon is preferred—ginger, or any flavor you prefer. The corn will do to make five or six brewings; when it is exhausted renew it. When the beer passes from the vinous to the ascetous fermentation it can be corrected by adding a little more water and molasses.

This is a simple, cheap beverage. After the beer becomes ripe it ought to be kept in a cool place, to prevent it from becoming sour before it is exhausted.

TO TAKE INK-STAINS OUT OF MAHOGANY.—Put a few drops of spirits of nitre in a teaspoonful of water, touch the spot with a feather dipped in the mixture, and on the ink disappearing, rub it over immediately with a rag wetted in cold water, or there will be a white mark, which will not be easily effaced.

HOUSEHOLD RECEIPTS.

To Wash Flannels.—It is said that by putting an ounce of borax to a gallon of water in which flannels are to be washed, that not only will shrinking be prevented, but the garments will be better cleansed.

Foul Cellars.—A family living over a foul cellar are more liable to be poisoned and afflicted with illness than a city family living in a polluted atmosphere, but without cellar or basement filled with fermenting roots and fruits. There is far more sickness in the country among husbandmen than there ought to be.

Indian Loaf.—Something to eat for all good eaters: Three pints of corn meal, one pint of wheat flour, two eggs, two tablespoonfulls salaeratus, one teacupful molasses, one pint butter-milk, one pint sweet milk, one tablespoonful of salt. Put it in a pan covered, and steam three hours. Cut it warm and eat with butter.

Gems.—They are cheap, easily made, wholesome and palateable. Graham flour and water stirred together, to the consistency of a think, pancake batter, and baked in the iron or tin gem pans. Everybody should have these bread pans. Gems, whether of Graham meal, fine flour or corn meal, should be put into a hot oven. Success depends on this.

Lemon Pie Without Lemons.—Beat the yolks of two eggs with three large spoonfuls of sugar; then mix evenly, two spoonfuls of flour with two teacups of milk, stir in the eggs and sugar, and add one table-spoonful of lemon essence, line your pie plate with paste, pour in the custard and bake. When it is done, remove from the oven, beat the white of two eggs with two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, and spread evenly over the top of the pie; set it in the oven and brown lightly.

Remedy for Corns.—The pain occasioned by corns may be greatly alleviated by the following preparation: Into a one ounce phial ask a druggist to put two drachms of muriatic acid and six drachms of rose-water. With the mixture wet the corns night and morning for three days. Soak the feet every morning in warm water without soap. Put one-third of the acid into the water, and with a little picking the corn will be dissolved.

ADMIRAL DAHLGREN, in a letter to A. B. Forbes, of Boston, in reference to the proposed fund for the children of the late Captain Williams, of the Oneida, says: "I know Williams well, and he was one of those whom I sent to head the assault on Fort Sumter. Well did he obey that order for a desperate service; he led his men to the top of the breach, and it was his proud distinction to feel with those who followed him that no other feet of Union soldiers or sailors ever trod that ruin while the rebel flag waved over it. He there was made prisoner with the gallant Preston, who afterward fell at Fort Fisher, and had the honor of wearing manacles in a rebel prison."

THE Raleigh, (N. C.) Standard says: "Sam Allen, a respectable colored man from Caswell county, was in this city on yesterday, and reported that he had been attacked a few nights before in his house by the Ku Klux; that he defended himself, and in so doing, killed one white man, whom he was hitherto well acquainted with, but then disguised, with a saber; that he fled, was shot at, but hid himself; that the next night the Ku Klux returned in stronger force, and killed an old negro woman, aged sixty-five; and that they returned the next night in still stronger numbers, when he fled to this city for protection."

The Naturalization Bill.

The Naturalization bill reported to the Senate by Mr. Conckling, provides that no proceedings for, or in relation to the naturalization of aliens shall be had or taken by or before any court or tribunal except the Circuit and District Courts of the United States and registers of bankruptcy, who are hereby made ex officio commissioners of naturalization. Applicants for naturalization are required to file with the court or commissioners, at least one month previously, a sworn statement setting forth many prescribed particulars of their residence, personal appearance, declaration of intention, &c., which statements shall be open to the public for inspection and copying. No one shall be admitted to citizenship who does not swear that he has resided four years and six months in the United States, and one year within the State or Territory where application is made. Such statement must be supported by the testimony of at least one citizen; and any person may produce evidence adverse to said application, and contest the same upon a hearing in open court. The declaration of intention to become a citizen must be filed one year and six months before the application for naturalization, but the adjudication admitting any alien to the rights of citizenship shall be made and entered on record, and the certificate of naturalization founded thereon shall have been issued for six months before such adjudication or certificate shall be effective.

It is made the duty of the Secretary of State to furnish the courts with blank certificates of naturalization, so prepared as to guard against frauds and counterfeits, of which he shall keep an account. The bill further provides that no certificate of naturalization issued since July 4, 1868, and prior to the date thereof, in any city whose population exceeds one hundred thousand, shall be evidence of naturalization until it shall have been presented by the person named therein to the United States court or commissioner of the district where he resides, and endorsed "approved" with proper seal and signature.

Provision is also made for the stamping of the word "used," or "rejected," with the date, on certificate presented to judges and inspectors of election to prove a right to vote, and also for the detection and punishment by fine and imprisonment of the persons issuing or holding, or using fraudulent certificates of naturalization.

The last section of the bill provides that in any city having upwards of fifty thousand inhabitants it shall be the duty of the United States circuit or district judge for the district in which said city is situated, to appoint for each election district or voting precinct in said city, and to change or renew said appointments as occasion may require, from time to time, two citizens resident of the district or precinct, one from each political party, who shall be authorized to attend at all times and places fixed for the registration of voters, who being registered would be entitled to vote for Representatives in Congress, and at all times and places for holding elections of Representatives of Congress, and for counting the votes cast at said elections, and to challenge any name proposed to be registered and any vote offered, and to be present and witness throughout the counting of all votes, and to remain where the ballot boxes are kept at the times when they are open until the votes are finally counted. Said persons, or either of them, shall have the right to affix their signatures to said registers for the purposes of identification, and to attach thereto, or to the certificates of the number of votes cast, any statement touching the truth or fairness thereof. The hindering or attempting to prevent any person so designated from doing any of the acts authorized as aforesaid shall be punished as a misdemeanor by imprisonment not less than one year.

A Wagnerian Row.

The first representation of Wagner's "Meistersinger" took place at Berlin on the 1st of April, in presence of the King and Queen of Prussia. The house was crowded, and in spite of the rule which forbids applause in presence of the sovereign, unless authorized by the sovereign's example, the theatre throughout the performance resounded with plaudits, plentifully relieved by hisses. During the first act the audience was comparatively calm. Walter's solo, sung with great expression by Niemann, was encored in spite of very violent opposition from a large portion of the audience. But with the second act a tempest burst forth such as, in the musical sphere, the works of Wagner alone seem capable of creating. During the third act the tempest became a hurricane, which attained its climax when the finale was begun. The instrumentation of the closing scene is sufficiently noisy; but such was the roar kept up by the adversaries and partizans of the composer that the orchestra was rendered inaudible, or rather its sound was rendered indistinguishable. The conflict was still maintained after the opera had come to an end, the recalls of the principal singers, of the conductor, and of the stage manager being each made the pretext for a fresh engagement.

TREASURER SPINNER has written another letter to the President of a New York National Bank, in which he says that the prospect is that the banks will triumph in the defeat of the Funding bill. He adds that the banks are refusing a more liberal offer than will ever be presented them hereafter. He says that their blind and selfish course will no doubt force upon the country the question whether banks shall be permitted to issue any paper to be used as money, or whether all money shall not be issued by the Government itself, and thereby saving to the people, in interest, from twenty to thirty millions of dollars in gold annually. He thinks it is a mistake to claim that the banks can resume when the Government resumes. Should the Government resume, he says the banks could at any time compel it to suspend, unless it was prepared to redeem the bank circulation and its own at the same time. He mentions a scheme that would be a good compromise between the people and the banks, but as the banks are now in earnest opposition to a plan much more favorable to their interests, with seeming success for the present at least, he declares that there can be little hope of any sort of a compromise; that the banks will not approve of any except the rejection by the House of Representatives of the Senate bill. Compromises between the Congress and the banks will probably end, and the whole question of banks and the finances of the country may then be fought out at the polls.

THE advent, on the 24th. of a colored cadet at West Point, was the sensation of the season. The cadets, especially, are not a little exercised in mind over the matter, and it is a theme of not a little contentious argument. Even the officers, while discarding all political bias in the matter, and after having fought for the colored race both at the polls and on the battle field, while feeling kindly toward him, speak very doubtfully of the expediency of this venture. They regard it as a more decided advance of the colored man into social circles than the elevation of Senator Revels to Congressional rank. The position of the new cadet, if accepted and maintained, must grow more and more embarrassing from his isolation and the peculiar novelty of his social connections. No doubt but that this recruit will have a regular initiatory "devilment" from the cadets, to sustain which will test his fortitude. Otherwise he will be treated, by both officers and cadets, with courtesy and kindness, their sense of honor being too high to permit any other course.

THE correspondent of the Toronto Globe, just from the Red River country, tells a pitiful story concerning the shooting of Scott by Reil. The three half-breeds who were his executioners, were drunk, and their balls took effect in poor Scott's body, inflicting painful but not fatal wounds. Another drunken half-breed staggered up and discharged his revolver in the fallen man's face, but the ball glanced from the cheek bone. Scott was then crowded into a coffin, which was left in charge of a sentinel. This was at noon, on a bitter cold day. Toward evening he commenced talking, and when Reil was sent for, begged to be "taken out of the coffin or finished." A couple of revolver shots put an end to his sufferings, which for some ten hours must have been intense. His body was buried in front of one of the Hudson Bay Company's buildings, Reil having refused to deliver it to his friends.

LAKE SUPERIOR advices say: Business in the copper districts is excessively dull, and all is gloom and despondency. The winter accumulations of copper have mostly gone forward, and shipments must hereafter be light. It has been determined to close the Franklin and Pewabic mines for the present, and it is feared others will follow. The discharged miners and workmen will mostly go to Duluth. The rush for that place continues unabated, every steamer taking up large numbers.

ALL the paragraphs now going the rounds about Miss Nillsen, her incomparable voice, the difficulty in getting her to come to America, the admiration felt for at the Tuilleries, etc., etc., are merely advertising dodges, probably paid for in the first newspapers in which they appear and afterwards innocently copied by other journals. All this is understood without farther explanation, however, when we know that the veteran P. T. Barnum, who recently in so pious a manner related the how and the wherefore of his most important humbugs is managing the Nillsen show, which is, however, probably no humbug.

THREE REQUISITES OF HEALTH.

If all the sickly people in the world were to take to their beds, and demand medical treatment, there would not be doctors enough to attend them, nor a sufficient number of the robust to nurse them. Three conditions are absolutely essential to health, viz.: a good appetite, easy digestion, and the ability to sleep soundly. Seven-eighths of the many thousands who suffer from indisposition, yet do not labor under serious disease, complain that they "can't eat," that their stomachs are "out of order," or that they "don't sleep well." For this class of ailments few persons think of calling in a physician. Nor is it necessary, inasmuch as a course of Hostetter's Bitters will certainly relieve the derangements of the stomach, the liver, and the nervous system, from which want of appetite, indigestion and sleeplessness arise. This excellent vegetable tonic and corrective is also a delightful anodyne. Insomnia (or incapacity to sleep,) which has resisted all the ordinary remedies, will yield readily to a dose of this pleasant sedative, taken just before retiring to rest. In ordinary medical practice it is usual to give a stomachic, an aperient, an invigorant, a soporific, or an antiseptic, as the case for the time being may seem more particularly to require; but in this grand restorative all these medicinal properties, and many others, are blended in due proportion. Thus, the digestion is stimulated, while the bowels are regulated, the liver toned, the strength recruited, the nerves calmed, the fluids purified and the circulation equalized. It is believed that there is no other restorative and regulating medicine in the world which acts so beneficially and agreeably upon all the assimilating and secretive organs at the same time; and to all who lack the three fundamental requisites of health and enjoyment, a vigorous appetite, sound digestion and refreshing sleep, it is confidently recommended as a specific.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, Pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE ST., (near Court House) Pittsburgh.

MONDAY, May 30, 1870. }

As business was almost entirely suspended to-day, we omit our usual report of the Pittsburgh markets, and as the suspension was doubtless general all over the country, we do not expect to have our usual reports by telegraph. In this city all our business houses, very properly, were closed, and the day was celebrated in a very creditable and appropriate manner.

Total	26
Total last week	31

Twenty-six cars containing 18 head to the car load, would make an aggregate of 468; in addition to this there was one hundred and seven head on sale from Butler, Washington, Beaver and Armstrong counties, making in all five hundred and seventy-five head, which in the absence of eastern buyers, was fully up to those of last week. Some of the drovers reported the market slow, but as the pens were almost cleared by nine o'clock, we think that upon the whole, business was pretty active, as the pens are not usually cleared before 11 or 12 o'clock, and sometimes not until afternoon. As will be seen prices ruled higher, good cattle bring 8½ to 9½, with some few extra at 10.

As a general thing, the cattle on sale to-day were not of as good quality as usual, there being more common stock and a diminished number of prime to extra steers, such as are bought by our best butchers. The number of State cattle on sale to-day was unusually large, while the number from Chicago, was unusually small, and as it is probable that the number of country cattle will be increasing, from this time out, we may expect a diminished number from Chicago. Drovers cannot think of paying the present prices in Chicago and competing with country cattle in this market, it is out of the question. One drover, who heretofore has been getting his stock from Chicago, informed us that he had country cattle to-day and that he sold for lower prices and made more money. As we have repeatedly stated, no one is more anxious for a decline in prices than the drovers and butchers, and it is altogether a mistaken idea that they are in any way to blame for the present high prices.

Considering the number of cattle on sale to-day, the proportion of inferior stock was unusually large, consisting of thin cows and steers, and as might be expected, the better grades were sold without much difficulty at full prices. Stock steers sold at 5 to 6½, as to quality.

Stakely Bro sold 11 head steers, cows and bulls at 5@6½.

Thos. Bingham 8 head steers and cows, from Mercer Co., at 5½@6¾c.

Jas. Shaw wholesaled 12 head good Mercer Co. stock at 7¼.

P. Sheitmantle 11 head cows and steers, from Butler Co., at 5@7c.

John Beeler 6 head, from Butler Co., at 5c for bulls, 6½ for two oxen and $50 for one fresh cow.

T. Welsh sold 4 fresh cows at $90@120.

Greknwald & Kahn sold 20 head common stillers, for Guckenheimer Bro. at 7½@8½; 42 head of western stock at 7⅞@9.

Sam. Lowenstein sold 20 head mixed Penn. stock at 6½@8,30.

Rothchilds & Zeigler 30 head Chicago steers at 6½@9—one extra steer to G Beilsteine. at 10½; 30 head from Washington Co., at 7½@8¾.

Peter Hartman sold 32 steers from Chicago, at 8,20 to 9.

M. Verner sold 19 head of steers, from Chicago, at 8,40 to 9.

J. & S. Needy 34 head of steers, from Licking Co., at 7 to 10c.

L. Keefer 38 steers, from Chicago, at 8@9c.

S. Marks Bro. 55 head steers, from Chicago, and 5 from Washington Co., at 7¾@9½.

Haas & Kraus sold 35 head steers, from Chicago, at 8¼@9⅝.

E. Katz 32 head steers, from Chicago, at 7¼@9—4 extra to W Peters at 9½.

Hazlewood & Blackstock sold 19 Ohio steers for Murphy at 8 to 8¼; 18 for Hawes, from Ohio, at 8½@9.20.

Traurman & Lobman 38 head steers, from Chicago, at 8½@9¼.

L. & J. Shamberg 53 head at 8@9,16 for good cattle; and stockers held at 6½.

Holmes, Lafferty & Co. sold 30 head fat cattle, from Indiana, at 6½@8,65; 30 stockers at 5½.

Kauffman 13 head from Washington Co.

Shomaker & Horner sold 18 steers, from Belmont Co., Ohio, at 8¼.

Jas. Hanlin sold 7 head common Washington Co. stock at 5½ to 7.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The supply was again large to-day, unusually so, nearly 1,500 head, which is the largest number we have had reported for several months, but with a good demand prices were pretty well sustained, notwithstanding the market dragged a little. The high prices of cattle is causing the butchers to buy a large number of sheep as they are much cheaper than cattle, and one good way to force cattle down is for the people to buy more mutton and less beef. Sheep sold at from 4 to 6½c per pound, and lambs at $1.75@4.50 per head. Following is a pretty full report of the sales:

Stakley Bro 90 head lambs at $1.80@4.00 per head.

James Shaw wholesaled 90 head of scalawag sheep, from Mercer co., at $1.60 per head.

P. Sheitemantle sold 125 head at 4 to 6c for sheep and $2 to $3 for lambs.

Garwin & Hwmes sold 286 head from Beaver and Butler counties, at $2 to $3½ for lambs and $2 to $4 for sheep.

Snyder sold 80 head of fair to extra sheep from Mercer co., at $3 to $6 per head.

Isaac McNeese, 100 from Butler co., at $1 to $3 per head.

John Drum, 109 from Westmorland co., sold sheep at $3 to $7 per head; lambs at $2 to $4.

Sam Vandever, 100 sheep and lambs, from Butler co. at $3 to $4 for former and $2 to $3 for latter

John Walters, 87 head at $2,50 to $4 for sheep and $2,50 to $3 for lambs.

Adam Eckert, sold 70 lambs at $2 to $4; 12 sheep at $3 to $5.

Jacob Emmell, 75 sheep at $2 to $4; lambs at $2,50@3.

Fairley & Moulton sold 49 sheep and lambs at $2 to $3

Isaac Williams had 77 head on commission for Hannan.

Johnathan Davis sold 100 head of sheep on commission at $2 to $3,25.

Emerick & Co., sold 35 head of sheep at $5.

HOGS.

The market continues very quiet, the retail demand, as is always the case, being very light at this season of the year, notwithstanding hogs are much cheaper relatively than cattle. We quote in a retail way at 9½@10¼, for fair to prime averages.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, May 30.—Trade continues sluggish and lacking in buoyancy yet the only change of importance is the reduction of ½c in Augusta sheetings which jobbed as low as 13½c.

There were 3,540 beeves on hand to-day—102 cars at Weehawken, 73 at Communipaw, and 35 cars at One Hundredth street, making a total of 6,250 head for the week. The stock of to-day run to extremes of choice 8 cwt. Illinois and Kentucky Beeves, at 17@17½c to green grass Texans of 5½ cwt. at less than 14c. Most of the sales were at 16@17c, averaging 16½c in a strong and active market, butchers failing to get enough. A scarcity of Sheep helped the Cattle market. In the strife of the railroads for the carrying trade the Erie is a long way ahead this week; sales of Beeves to-day were 100 Illinois fat stillers, even ¾ cwt., at 16@17½c; 150 Texan stillers, 6¼ cwt., at 17½c; 90 Ohio stillers at 16@17c; 270 Illinois corn fed, common to fair, 6¾ cwt., at 15½@16½c; many good stillers on sale, with 700 Texans for the week—total 13,800. Sheep; of which 3,560 head arrived for to-day's market. Prices have advanced fully ⅛ per cent. Some poor lots sold at 6c, fair at 7½c, prime at 8c, and a few at 8½c, the market closing very strong. Lambs are worth 12@14½c; sales of 1 car Ohio, averaging 76 pounds, at 5c, 3 cars, averaging 82 pounds, at 7c, one car good, averaging 80 pounds, and 1 car do averaging 90 pounds, at 8c. A lot of 15-pound Ohio lambs brought 14c. The total receipts of hogs were 21,000 head, with 57 cars for to-day's market; prices ranged steady at 12c net.

PHILADELPHIA, May 30—Beef cattle advanced ½c and in good demand; sales of 1,200 heads extra at 10½11; fair to good 9@10c; common 6@8. Sheep: fair demand; sale of 11,000 at 6@8. Hogs firm; sales 2'500 at $12,00@13.74.

CHICAGO, May 30—Hogs active and 10@15c higher at $8,20@8,75 for common to choice. Cattle firm at $6@8,65, for choice to extra prime shipping steers.

RIVER NEWS.

The river rose a few inches on Sunday night and yesterday, but last evening it was about stationary with four feet six inches in the channel.

Business was almost wholly suspended yesterdday at the landing.

Pilot Wm. Ford, who was knocked down and run over by a runaway horse on Saturday and seriously injured, is much better, and is considered out of danger. His family reside near Cincinnati, not in Allegheny city as reported by an evening cotemporary. Mr. Ford for many years was a resident of Allegheny but moved away several years ago. He is a brother of Capt. Marsh Ford, who was killed during a gunboat engagement with the rebels on Tennessee river.

The Belle, Capt. J. P. Smith, is the regular packet for Brownsville and Geneva to-day, leaving at 5 o'clock P. M. She will be found at the wharf boat above the Monongahela bridge to-day, as will also her agent, Mr. S. R. Patterson.

The Julia, from Zanesville, arrived on Sunday night, and the St. Charles, from Cincinnati, arrived yesterday morning. The latter boat was again obliged to lighten. The Julia returns to-day, as usual, at 4 P. M.

The Wauanita, Capt. J. B. Conway, is announced to depart for St. Louis this evening, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. Mr. Dunlevy, still retains charge of the office.

The Arlington, Capt. Dan Moore, is the regular packet for Cincinnati to-day. She is always here to leave on her regular day, and has attained a good reputation for promptness and regularity, very important regularities in packet boats. Capt. A. S. Shepard, continues to have charge of the office.

—The following are the parties making the lowest bids for the enlargement of the Louisville & Portland Canal: First section, M. Deveraux & Son, of Charleston, W. Va.; amount of contract, $26,014. Second section, H. McGlinnery & Co., of Lafayette, Ind.; amount of contract, $75,015. Third section, Samuel Black, of Louisville; amount of contract, $47,402. Fourth section, Samuel Black & Co., of Louisville; amount of contract, $41,140.

—The Andy Ackley left Sioux City on Monday with 150 tons of commissary stores for Fort Sully. She took on board also a large amount of baggage for the troops stationed there. The Farragut also left for Sully on Tuesday. The steamer Columbia, which left Fort Sully on the 10th instant, loaded with soldiers, had not reached Yankton on Monday, up to the time the stage left.

—We clip the following from the St. Louis Democrat: The latest ore and metal items are these—the Collier will take 500 tons ore and 150 tons metal for Pittsburgh, 400 tons ore for Ironton, and 400 tons do for Martinsville. The Glendale will take 150 tons pig iron, 1,000 brls flour, 40 tons clay, for Pittsburgh, 400 tons ore for Ashland, and 350 tons do for Wheeling.

—Advices from Sioux City under date of 22d state the Columbia is expected down to-day. Jack Hanna is here. He reports that the Nick Wall was two days in advance of his boat, the Rees, and if no accident happens, will be the first to reach Fort Benton. The Ackley leaves for Sully on 23d, with 135 tons corn.

—The channel at Buffalo Island is changed, and is now down Hacker's bend, on the Illinois shore. The channel at Vance's is considerably further down the river than last season, and boats are now running by Willard's Landing.

—Captain John Klinefelter, who ran the Gladiator ten years ago in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade, is an established farmer. His farm is in the interior of Illinois.

—The Importer, at last accounts, was laid up at New Orleans, and it is likely she will remain there for some time.

—There is but 8½ feet water between Cario and St. Louis, and hard to find —The Commercial has entered the Memphis and Evansville trade.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ CONSUMPTION.

DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP for the cure of Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

Dr. SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC for the cure of Dyspepsia and all the Debilitated Conditions of the Stomach.

DR. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, for Diseases of the Liver or to act as a Gentle Purgative.

All of these three Medicines are often required in curing Consumption, though the Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many desperate cases. The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills assist in regulating the Stomach and Liver, and help the Pulmonic Syrup to digest and search through the blood vessels, by which means a cure is soon effected.

These Medicines are conscientiously offered to the Public as the only safe, certain and reliable remedy for Pulmonary Consumption, and for all those morbid conditions of the body which lead to that fatal disease. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are often forerunners of Consumption, and when they manifest themselves they require the most prompt attention.

The Pulmonic Syrup is a medicine which has had a long probation before the public. Its value has been proved by the thousand cures it has made through a period of more than thirty-five years, in all of which time its reputation has increased, and the most obstinate skepticism can no longer doubt that it is a remedy which may be used with confidence in all cases which admit of a cure.

If the patient will perseveringly follow the directions which accompany each bottle, he will certainly be cured, if his lungs are not too much wasted to make a cure possible. Even in cases supposed to be incurable, when friends and physicians have despaired, the use of this Medicine has saved the life of the patient and restored him to perfect health.

Dr. Schenck does not say that all cases of Pulmonary Consumption are within the reach of medicine, but he emphatically asserts that often when patients have the most alarming symptoms, such as a violent cough, creeping chills, night sweats, general debility, even to such a degree that they are obliged to lie in bed, and when they are given up by their physician, they may still be cured. No medical treatment can create new lungs, but when the lungs are very sadly diseased and to some extent destroyed, a cure may be effected by Dr. Schenck's medicine.

Also, in Scrofulous Diseases, these medicines are equally efficient. Dr. Schenck has photographs of a number of persons who have been nearly covered with running sores and now all healed up. This shows its purifying properties, which must be able to heal cavities in the lungs.

In the treatment of Consumption it is of the utmost importance to give vigor and a healthy tone to the system. Hence it is necessary to strengthen the appetite of the patient and improve the digestion. Proper nourishment is required together with such means as will make the food easily digestible. The articles most suitable for the diet of Consumptive patients are designated in Dr. Schenck's Almanacs, which are distributed gratuitously. In general, the most highly nutritious articles are to be preferred, but the digestive organs must be strengthened in order to make either food or medicine serviceable. This requirement is met by the Seaweed Tonic, and for this purpose it was designated.

When the digestive powers are put in good order, the food has its proper effect; the system of the patient is invigorated and the lungs begin to exercise their functions in a normal and healthy manner. Then the healing powers of Pulmonic Syrup will effect the cure.

Pulmonary Consumption is almost always complicated with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. Schenck's Mandrake Pills are intended to remove obstructions from the Liver and restore its healthy action. They have all the efficacy which is ascribed to calomel or "blue mass," and are warranted not to contain a particle of any mineral poison. These Pills cure the most obstinate costiveness, sick headache, piles, billious affections, and all other diseases which arise from a torpid or obstructed condition of the Liver. One box of these pills will prove the efficacy of the medicine.

In Consumption the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are invaluable auxiliary medicines. They relieve the sufferings of the patient and assist the Pulmonic Syrup in effecting a cure. They have been found useful in advanced stages of Consumption, where the lungs are almost entirely destroyed and all symptoms according to the judgment of the physician indicated a speedy death. The lives of patients who were actually in a dying condition have been preserved for months by the use of Schenck's three great remedies.

Dr. Schenck's Almanac contains a full treatise on the various forms of disease, his mode of treatment and general directions how to use his medicine can be had gratis, or sent by mail by addressing his Principal Office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. de27:d&T

U. P. General Assembly—Fifth Day's Proceedings—A Donation—The Railroads, etc.

FIFTH DAY—MORNING SESSION.

The members of the Assembly convened at nine o'clock A. M. yesterday, and a half hour was spent in devotional exercises.

The Assembly was then called to order and opened with prayer by Rev. J. M. Henderson.

On motion, the calling of the roll was dispensed with.

The minutes of the preceding session were then read and approved.

DONATION.

The clerk read a communication from a Lady of Bethel congregation, Bloomington Presbytery, proposing to donate immediately $300 and the further sum of $100 annually so long as she lives, for the purpose of extending Christianity among the Jews, and asking what disposition should be made of the money.

On motion, the matter was referred to a special committee consisting of Revs. J. R. Pollock, T. P. Proudfoot, J. H. Andrews, and Elders Isaac McGay and James Hay.

Rev. J. B. Dale, delegate to the General Assembly of the Old School Presbyterian Church, read a letter to the Assembly. Referred to the Committee on Correspondence.

A paper entitled "a question of the extent of jurisdiction in case of ministers dismissed to other churches." Referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

The report of the Chairman of the Committee of the San Francisco Building Fund was presented and referred to the Committee on Finance.

The credentials of Rev. E. P. Pratt, Corresponding delegate from the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church were presented and referred to the Committee on Correspondence.

The report of Rev. A. D. Wallace, Chairman of the Committee on the General Treasury asking that the Committee be discharged was read and on motion, was received, and the Committee discharged.

The Clerk read a letter from the American Christian Association for disseminating christianity among the Jews of New York and elsewhere. Received, and referred to the special committee above mentioned.

A BEQUEST.

A delegate announced that he was officially notified that Francis L. Wylie, of St. Louis, had left a legacy of $1,000, one-third of his estate, to the United Presbyterian Church, $400 of which was to be devoted to Home, and $600 to Foreign Missions. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Rev. Dr. Brown, chairman of the Committee on Bills and Overtures, submitted the following report:

The Committee on Bills and Overtures, to which was referred the memorial from the Synod of Illinois in regard to an ambiguity in the Book of Discipline in the article on "Appeals," would respectfully report: That the difficulty evidently occurs from a typographical error in the last impression of the book. Your committee would therefore respectfully report for adoption the following:

Resolved, That in future editions of the Book of Discipline the word "not" be inserted before "sustained" in the second sentence, eighth section of the article on appeals.

It will then read, "If the appeal be not sustained," etc.

The report was received.

A motion to adopt elicited considerable discussion, and the report was referred to a Committee consisting of Rev. Dr. J. Scott, Rev. J. H. Brown, J. W. Logan and Mr. David Turnbull, with instruction to report at the next meeting of the General Assembly.

THE NEXT MEETING.

There being no other business ready it was resolved to fix a place of meeting for the next General Assembly. Xenia and Philadelphia were named, and on a vote being taken it was resolved to meet in Xenia, by a vote of 67 for Xenia to 55 for Philadelphia.

The time was fixed for the 4th Wednesday of May next, at 7½ o'clock P. M.

COMMITTEE ON RAILROADS.

On motion Messrs. Wm. Getty of Philadelphia, J. M. Wallace, Chicago, Dr. Robert Gracy, Pittsburgh, J. C. McMillan, Xenia, James Donovan of Iowa, were appointed a Committee on Railroad fares.

Rev. Dr. Gracey, chairman of the Railroad Committee of last year, was called upon for a report of the arrangements and provisions for the transportation of delegates, which he gave in detail.

CORRESPONDING DELEGATES.

Rev. Mr. Niblock, chairman of the Committee on Correspondence, submitted a resolution appointing Rev. Joseph Clarke, D.D., as delegate to the Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, to meet in Dayton, Ohio, next year, and Rev. Mr. Blair, with Rev. Mr. Crawford as alternate, as delegate to the Synod of the Reformed Church, to meet at Newark during the present week.

On motion, the paper was returned to the Committee for correction, and the Committee were instructed to report delegates for next year also.

PAPAL BAPTISM.

The report on the inability of Papal Baptism, presented at a previous meeting, was, on motion, taken up.

A motion to adopt the report was amended by moving to have it printed for the benefit of the members, and allowed it to lay over until the next meeting.

Considerable discussion ensued on the report, from which it was evident that there was considerable diversity of opinion on the question under discussion.

Pending the discussion the Assembly adjourned with prayer by Rev. Joseph McHatton.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Assembly met at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and was opened with prayer by the Rev. W. H. Andrew.

The minutes of the previous session were read, and, after correction, approved.

Dr. Scott stated that the form of his motion in relation to Papal baptism was, that the report be published for information, and the question adopting it be postponed till the next meeting of the Assembly.

A lettrr from Rev. I. N. Loughead, in relation to a legacy left to the Assembly by Mr. Robert Nelson, was read. It was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Wm. Getty, Esq., read the reports of the committees on Finance and Church Extension conjointly. It referred particularly to the taking of a second mortgage for $10,000 on the church property of the San Francisco congregation, to run for a term of ten years.

The Moderator called Dr. Brown, of Keokuk, to the chair, and requested Mr. Cooper, one of the trustees of the San Francisco congregation, to give a statement in relation to the church in that city.

Mr. Cooper said the church was organized about four years ago, by the Rev. J. T. Cooper, D. D., of Philadelphia, and since that time has increased largely in numbers.

The Moderator (Dr. Brown in the chair) said Mr. Cooper had given a fair and correct statement of the matters connected with the church in San Francisco. They needed a house. They were renting a hall at about fifty dollars a month. It was not well suited to the purpose, and was far from being comfortable. A church building was necessary. It has already been commenced. The lot cost $11,000, and they could have realized $16,000 on it a few months after it was purchased. Building and lot will be worth $40,000, so that the Assembly will be perfectly safe in taking a second mortgage on the property, as there is a margin of $15,000. The Moderator then resumed the chair.

Rev. Mr. Getty said if the Assembly took a second mortgage he hoped it would not be made a precedent.

Rev. Mr. Jackson thought, whether it would be a precedent or not, it would not be unreasonable to grant the request. He would extend it to ten years, and would move that as an amendment.

Rev. H. H. Blair, of New York, would give the money without any restriction. He would not give a bribe to any congregation to keep it in the U. P. Church. He was opposed to all these encumbrances. But if they would do wrong, let them do it generously—give ten years instead of five.

Dr. Cooper of Philadelphia, was permitted to say a few words on the subject. He was well assured that the Assembly would not regret any expenditure it might make on the church in San Francisco.

The amendment was adopted. The motion and report as amended were adopted.

Called for the order of the day, a Conference on Foreign Missions. It was moved to suspend the order of the day, with the view of continuing the discussion on the report of the Committee on Church Extension. Carried by a small majority.

A motion was made to re-consider the vote on the main question, namely, the adoption of the report of the Committees on Finance and Church Extension as amended. Carried.

It was moved to recommit the matter to the Committee. Lost.

The discussion then proceeded on the original motion, and the debate was continued at great length. The report of the Committee was adopted, and the request granted. The resolution in the report of the Committee is as follows:

Resolved, That the Trustees of the General Assembly be instructed to take a second mortgage from the Trustees of the U. P. Church of San Francisco, with the distinct understanding that said mortgage may run for a term of ten years, and that at the end of said term, the Trustees of said church shall execute a first mortgage to the Trustees of the General Assembly.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Rev. David Paul read the report of the Committee on the Board of Foreign Missions. It recommended the adoption of the recommendations appended to the report by the Board of Foreign Missions—the re-election of Rev. W. C. Jackson, and Messrs. Getty and Thomas Stinson as members of the Board, and that the sum of $65,600 be appropriated to the Foreign Mission Board, to be expended as indicated in their report.

In reference to the China Mission, it stated that it is the first-born mission of the United Presbyterian Church. It was intended to be the memorial of the union. It ought either to be abandoned entirely, or be re-enforced and supported with greatly increased interest and liberality. The Board were directed to confer with Mr. Nevin with regard to the Mission in China, and prepare for the consideration of the next General Assembly such action as all the interests committed to the church may seem to demand. The Board should decide to recommend the continuance of the Mission in China. They are authorized and urged to make all possible arrangements for entering vigorously upon the work immediately after the next Assembly. If the Board should decide to abandon the field in China, they are authorized to dispose of the mission property, and hold the proceeds subject to the order of the Assembly. And finally, as the transfer of the whole case and support of any mission to any Presbytery or Presbyteries would introduce confusion into the missionary operations, it is inexpedient to grant the request of the Presbyteries of Monongahela and Westmoreland.

The Assembly took up the resolutions of the Board as recommended by the Committee, and considered them seriatim.

The first resolution, which recommended an increased spirit of prayer that the Lord would send forth additional labors into the missionary field, was adopted.

The second resolution recommended the sending out of one missionary to Syria, two to India, and one or two to Egypt; that Miss Theresa M. Campbell be appointed for female missionary service in Egypt. This resolution was discussed at great length. It was adopted.

The Assembly then adjourned to meet in the evening at half-past seven o'clock, Rev. E. H. Stevenson concluding by prayer.

EVENING SESSION.

The Assembly met at 7½ o'clock in the evening, and was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Macpherson, of the Dominion. The minutes of the former sederunt were read and approved.

The report of the Agent for the Chicago Mission, accompanied with a financial statement, was read. The report was referred to the Committee on Church Extension. The financial statement was referred to the Committee on Finance.

FOREIGN DELEGATES.

The credentials of Rev. Wm. Arnot and Dr. Blaikie, of the Free Church of Scotland, were read by the Assistant Clerk. Referred to the Committee on Correspondence.

ADDRESSES OF THE DELEGATES.

Rev. Dr. Edmunds, of the U. P. Church of Great Britain, was introduced, and addressed the Assembly. His church and the one he addressed bear substantially the same name. It was not through any want of appreciation of the brotherly kindness of the Assembly in opening, some time since, a fraternal correspondence with his church that they did not respond earlier. Circumstances prevented it over which they had no control. If two men bear the same name, the impression is that they may be related. One half were born on this side of the Atlantic; but this is not unfrequent. There was a strong family resemblance between the two churches. In his church they permitted the use of uninspired hymns; but they did not put the Psalms aside. There is no composition to be compared with the Psalms of David, except other songs found in the inspired Bible. They did not prohibit any congregation from limiting their psalmody to the psalms of David. You do not hold to the version of Rouse as some people think. You manifest a desire to get another and smoother version. There is another phase in which they differ—close communion. But open communion in his church, is not indiscriminate communion. Their's is a communion of saints. But by close communion you do not mean excommunication, so there is little difference in this regard.

There are things in which the two churches agree, you have no difficulties in this country about boundaries. You have an Elder from San Francisco, and a Moderator from Oregon. (Applause.)

His Church took an honorrble part in contending against human slavery. You did so too. It was a more difficult task for you than for us.

The speech of Mr. Edmunds was replete with humor, and was well received by the large and appreciative audience.

Dr. McLeod then stepped forward and addressed the audience. Since they arrived in the United States they had been called United Presbyterians and strangers. He had been brought so much under the power of American kindness that he would, like Johnnie in the anecdote, desire to be a stranger still, for the stranger always got the best bed and the best of everything.

The Lord is doing a great work in his land in the way of union. The Union movement in his country is some years old. The parties to it are first the Reformed Presbyterians. The next is the United Presbyterian Church. The third is the Free Church of Scotland and the fourth is the Presbyterian Church of England. The lamented Dr. James Hamilton was a good soldier in the cause of Union. He quoted an elegant passage from that great man on the subject of Union. An interest was awakened among the laboring class. A third thing was the fearful condition of the Church of England. Colensonianism contributed something. The people began to tremble for the errors of the English establishment. The ritualism of the English Church is just the Papal mass back again.

The Union Committee has been a most happy place to the men who have attended it for the last seven years. As voluntaries, it was supposed they believed the State had nothing to do with religion, and religion had nothing to do with the State. That is infidelity. They could not believe it. They held that there was no domain in the Universe over which Christ was not head. He was head over all things. A declaration of this kind in the committee by a member of the United Presbyterian Church, disabused the minds of Free Churchmen. Drs. Marshall, Candlish and Gould, of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, had all done good service. The Union prospects are not as dark as represented in the newspapers. The desires of those who wish Union shall be fulfilled. It will be accomplished.

Rev. Dr. Watts, Professor of Systematic Theology in the Assembly's College, Belfast, Ireland, was then introduced. He expressed his pleasure in being permitted to address the Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of the United States. He thought these deputations would be productive of much good. He did not know whether he was an Irishman or an American. He had spent sixteen years in America and had since that lived about seven years in Ireland, so that his whole physical organization was changed. He did not know whether to speak of Ireland or America. He did not know what would become of Presbyterianism and Popery if it were not for Ireland. He could claim two-thirds of the audience either as Irish or the descendants of Irishmen. In a United Presbyterian Church in Allegheny he found, on last Sabbath, the same little book (of psalms) that lies on the top of the Bible in Ireland. He need not say the Bible was the same, but the other was the "identical document." There is a spirit of inquiry in Ireland, owing no doubt to the relation sustained by that country to this. Americans got their eyes opened when they came to this country. He was no Fenian. [Laughter.] You seem to be relieved by that. [Renewed laughter.] He related some incidents which went to show that there was a change in Ireland, in regard to the election of members of Parliament, and other matters. They could not do without the United States. There is a physical necessity that the United States should be where they are. [Laughter.] He was serious on this matter. [Renewed laughter.] It is a necessity, geographically considered, else they would be deprived of the genial influences of the Gulf stream. Popery would soon die in this country were it not for Ireland. You can't make a good priest out of a Yankee. The Romish Church in America is a foreign church torn from the bleeding sides of old Ireland. The speech was eloquent and instructive.

Thomas Sinclair, Esq., one of the christian merchant princes of Belfast, and an elder in the Irish Presbyterian General Assembly, then addressed the audience. He is quite youthful in appearance, and gives evidence that he is worthy of his noble Presbyterian ancestry. He referred to the many tokens of substantial regard exhibited by the United States to Ireland. He went into details of the Irish disestablishment bill, and give an interesting account of the manner in which the laity had resolved to conduct the finances of church, so that neither the congregatfons nor the ministers should suffer from its forty thousand pounds a year state aid. His interesting speech was delivered in a conversational style, and was listened to attentively.

Rev. Dr. Blaikie, of the Free Church of Scotland, was the next speaker. He appeared unlike the other delegates, in a state of single blessedness. Rev. Mr. Arnot was absent, and was prevented no doubt from being present by his great modesty. He had gone to visit a dear friend in a distant part of the country. Four hundred and seventy ministers separated themselves from the Established Church of Scotland on account of patronage in 1843. These four hundred and seventy ministers had grown to be nine hundred. The success of the Free Church has been frequently quoted in Parliament as an argument in favor of that bill to which Mr. Sinclair had called the attention of the Assembly. The "disruption" of 1843 had exerted a powerful influence in bringing the non-conformists of the British isles into closer bonds.

The speeches of the respected delegates were most interesting, and seemed to fill the large audience with delight. We are very sorry that the crowded state of our columns prevents us this morning from giving even a synopsis of these addresses, a perusal of which would amply repay our readers.

The Moderator addressed the delegates in appropriate terms.

The Assembly then adjourned till this morning, at nine o'clock, after the audience sang the 133d psalm and the Rev. Dr. McLeod pronounced the Apostolic Benediction.

Re-united Presbyterian Assembly.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsbugh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—In the Presbyterian Assembly the report of the Committee on the report of the Board of Publication was received from Dr. McCosh.

The report of the Standing Committee on Foreign Missions was taken from the docket and considered item by item. The resolutions in the report were adopted as recommended, but the discussion occupied the entire morning.

An amendment was offered to the item concerning Indian work, which was hotly discussed. The amendment was to formally approve of the action of President Grant and officers of the Government in pursuing a peaceful policy towards Indians. This was not agreed to, on the ground that politics should have no place in the church. Speeches were made by the Commissioners from the Indian country and others. The item was finally adopted as reported, and the amendment tabled.

The special order of the day, the reception of the report of the Joint Committee on Home Missions, was postponed until afternoon on account of the absence of the chairman of the Committee.

The afternoon session commenced with a debate by Elders Wm. Rankin and Jas. Pollock, and a motion of the latter to proceed to the election of a Board of Foreign Missions was not agreed to.

Dr. Paxton, of New York, presented the report of the Committee on Domestic Missions, showing the balance on hand to be $65,037, and leaving to the General Assembly the question of the location of the new Board; also recommending the liberal sustenation of missionaries employed.

A long and somewhat acrimonious debate followed between Dr. Paxton, of New York, and Rev. Dr. Musgrave, of Philadelphia, and the report was finally adopted, with sundry amendments.

Dr. McCosh, President of Princeton College, made an earnest appeal for increased compensation for the ministry, and presented a resolution that statistical information be given to the next General Assembly as to the inadequacy of present payments. Referred to the Committee on Institution Fund, to which Dr. McCosh was added.

Southern Presbyterian Assembly.

LOUISVILLE, May 30.—The proceedings of the General Assembly to-day were mainly confined to receiving reports of committees. The Committee on Bills and Overtures, in response to overture 14, being an inquiry whether members of the so-called Christian, commonly known as Campbellites Church, wishing to become members of our Church, and who had been baptized in the name of the Holy Trinity, should invariably be re-baptized, recommended re-baptism. The recommendation of the committee was adopted.

Dr. Palmer, from Committee on Foreign Correspondence, reported a pastoral letter of the General Assembly to all churches under its care. This letter is in regard to the reunion of the Northern and Southern Assemblies and the recent action of the Southern Assembly during its session here. After a long discussion the letter was adopted. The letter claims that whatever obstructions may be in the way of ecclesiastical fellowship were not created by the Southern Church, and that they could not allow themselves to be placed in a false position before the world as the parties who had been guilty of wrong to the Northern Church.

A motion for final adjournment was made, and after the passage of a vote of thanks to the people of Louisville for hospitality, etc., the Assembly adjourned until its next meeting at Huntsville.

A Big Calf.—Jonathan Heckul, of McCandless township, had a calf weighed on Saturday, two hours after it was born, and incredible as it may apper, it weighed one hundred and twenty-five pounds. This is, without doubt, the biggest calf in this section of country. Forty or fifty pounds is the usual weight for a calf of this age, and seventy or eighty pounds is considered something extraordinary. Mr. Heckul was offered and refused $50 for it.

Something New.—G. W. Hubley, 68 Federal street, Allegheny, of the well known furnishing store, has just received a consignment of the original star-shaped Dexter Washing Machines, which washes quicker, easier and more thoroughly than any known machine without wear or tear to the clothes. They are manufactured at Erie, Pa. City and county rights can be negotiated for at Hubley's.

NEW YORK, May 30, 1870.

NATIONAL POLICY TOWARDS MEXICO.

Gen. Rosecrans will soon publish an address to the people of the United States sustaining and explaining a memorial which he is about to submit to Congress, on the subject of our national policy toward Mexico. Gen. Rosecrans urges a declaration by Congress of a policy which will assure the Mexican Government of firm sympathy and moral support and our own citizens that their rights shall be protected in whatever legitimate mercantile, industrial or other enterprises they undertake in that country. The policy proposed has received the approval of Ex-Secretary Seward, Chief Justice Chase, Caleb Cushing, Gen. Schenck, Wm. H. Aspinwall, and other prominent citizens, by whom it has been examined and from whom letters will be published. General Rosecrans affirms that a decisive declaration by Congress at the present time would strengthen and establish Juarez's declining adminisrration in Mexico, and induce capital to go there and engage in banking and railroad institutions, thus raising that country to the dignity of an independent, self-protecting republic and a faithful ally of the United States.

IMPROBABLE FENIAN REPORTS.

Dispatches are reported received at Fenian headquarters stating that Col. O'Leary advanced into Canada and captured sixty prisoners, that troops were crossing at Buffalo and Detroit and a general movement all along the lines to-night, and that Moseby was at Malone organizing for a move. These improbable stories created much excitement and brought in quite free subscriptions and some recruits. Forty men are represented to have left this afternoon and three hundred to go to-night to Malone. The depots, however, to-day are filled with returned Fenians, nearly all destitute and hungry.

REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD.

At a meeting of the Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, to-day, reports were made from the Iowa Presbytery and that of the Lakes. A letter of greeting was read from the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland, which expressed the opinion that the only hope for the Episcopal Church in England was its disestablishment; then the dross would be weeded out, and men of talent and religious fervor selected as preachers. The rest of the session was occupied in the discussion of the new covenant or confession of sin.

FENIANISM.

Excitement at Malone Over the Transportation Question—Arrest of Fenian Officers, Including "Gen." Donnelly, of Pittsburgh—Surrender of Fenians to U. S. Troops—Thirty Tons of War Material Seized.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MALONE, May 30.—The refusal of General Meade to forward Fenians home has created great excitement. General Quimby, United States Marshal at Rochester, arrived early this morning, and was consulted by Deputy Marshal Hazen as to the best action in regard to the Fenians, nearly two hundred of whom arrived from Pottsdam Junction during the night. The total number of Fenians here is two thousand. During the night about two hundred moved out to Sabine's Wood, a distance of one mile and a quarter, and camped.

Marshal Quimby decided to arrest the Fenian officers here, and warrants were issued by U. S. Commissioner Brennan for the arrest of Gen. Gleason, Surgeon General Donnelly, of Pittsburgh, Capt. Lindsey, Col. T. T. O'Leary and E. J. Mainx, a Fenian centre here. All were arrested except O'Leary. Mainx escaped from the Girard House by jumping through a window. Troops are in pursuit and there is great excitement. The remainder of the prisoners are kept under the cover of rifles.

Information was received by the Marshal, about one o'clock, that the Fenians at Sabine's woods had arms with them, and a company of the Fifth Artillery, with Lieutenant Duval in command, started for the camp. On passing up the road about half a mile, the regulars were perceived by some of the Fenians, who cut across the fields to give warning to their comrades. The company moved up on the double quick, and on reaching a commanding position broke into two commands. One flanked the eastern side of the Fenian camp and others were thrown out on the skirmish line, and after loading with ball cartridge entered the woods. The Fenians quickly surrendered. Fifty breech-loading rifles with bayonets and about five thousand rounds of ammunition were found and seized by Lieutenant Duval. The Fenians were not arrested, as only the officers were wanted by the civil authorities. Generals Gleason, Lindsey, Donnelly and others will be brought before Commissioner Brennan to-day. William Dersheimer, United States District Attorney for northern New York, who arrived here yesterday from Buffalo, will prosecute.

The six o'clock train last evening brought two additional companies of the Fifth United States Artillery, who are quartered at the Rink. Collector of Customs Blunt, at Fort Covington, arrived by the same train. He had seized on Friday, three miles west of Hogansburg, thirty tons of Fenian guns, ammunition and equipments. The arms were five thousand Springfield and Enfield rifles and Austrian carbines; ten to twelve tons breech loading ammunition, and the remainder of knapsacks, cartridge boxes, etc. General Hunt, in command here, detailed fifteen men to proceed to Fort Covington, where the arms are stored by Mr. Blunt, and convey them here. The Fenians have abandoned the idea of recapturing the arms and ammunition seized by Collector Blunt. The seizure has virtually ended all movements by the Fenians from here.

All the Officers Under Arrest.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., May 30.—Gen. Meade and staff leave this morning for New York, leaving General McDowell in command, who returns to Malone. All the Fenian officers have been arrested, including Father McMahon. The Fenians are thoroughly disheartened, and want to go home. General Meade thinks the State will probably order the railroads to carry them for half fare as far as Rome or Boston, and let them look out for themselves.

The Movement Entirely at an End.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Secretary Belknap received dispatches from General McDowell and the United States Marshals along the Canadian frontier to the effect that the Fenian movement was entirely at an end. Large bodies of men are crossing into the States of Vermont and New York, en route to their homes, and the general expression of feeling is that the entire expedition was premature and without the sanction of the Fenian Congress.

Leaders in Council at Buffalo—Disgusted but not Dispirited.

BUFFALO, May 30.—The Fenian leaders from the middle States and West were in council here to-day investigating the late disaster and adopting measures for reorganization. Although disgusted at the miserable failure at St. Albans, they profess not to be dispirited and claim the organization will steadily pursue its object to success.

Loitering at St. Albans—Gen. O'Neil's Life Threatened.

ST. ALBANS, May 30.—A few Fenians are still loitering about the streets, but leave for home as soon as they obtain money to pay transportation. Cols. Brown and Murphy are still in jail, unable to obtain bail. Many Fenians believe O'Neil intended to be arrested, and threaten his life if opportunity presents. They still claim he has a large amount of money collected from the hard earnings of Irish laborors.

THE IMPEACHMENT PROPOSITION.

Judge Bingham, chairman of the Judicial Committee, says there is no prospect that time will be found this session for even the most cursory examination of the petition asking the impeachment of Judges Field and Hoffman. The universal opinion here is the matter will die a natural death in Committee.

—The still belonging to the distillery of Peter Schwab, at Hamilton, Ohio, exploded yesterday, killing Mr. Kline, bur runner, and August Frederick, mash hand. The still was outside the building and was blown to fragments. It broke a hole in the wall of the main building and destroyed the mash tub, scattering the contents on the floor. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

—In the Supreme Court, at Chicago, Saturday, a verdict for $1,045 was rendered against the American Express Company. The plaintiff claimed that in July, 1869, she delivered to defendant a package containing $1,000 to be forwarded to her at New York, and that when the package arrived there it only contained some worthless scraps of old newspapers. The court instructed the jury that if defendant received the package from the plaintiff without knowing its contents, except so far as the figures on the outside indicated the contents, then the burden of proof rested on plaintiff to show that the package actually contained that sum.

Crops in Southern States.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, May 30.—The wheat crop of Georgia gives good promise for a large yield. A small shipment of new flour was made to-day. South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama papers speak encouragingly of corn and cotton crops. The rains of the last week fell very generally and timely. A larger area of land has been planted and more fertilizers used. The planters are working hard.

Rev. J. B. Clark.

Several communications relating to this gentleman and the Ecclesiastical Court which recently acted on the unfortunate case between him and Miss Hawkes have reached us from anonymous sources; some of these come from the friends of Doctor Clark, others from his enemies or those who condemn his conduct and denounce the Court for its moderate clemency. We have not published any of these letters for the sufficient reason that they are anonymous. To-day we have a letter from an intelligent lady well known to us, whose sprightly pen has on former occasions enlivened our columns. We would be glad on account of our high respect for this correspondent to publish her letter, but as so many others have been declined, and as the subject is one on which the public has been so fully posted in this paper that we think our readers are satiated with it, and for the reason, moreover, that the right of reply would be demanded and the whole subject thus be reagitated to an endless extent. We hope our excellent lady friend will agree with us that it is better that we apply the same rule to her's as we have to other communications, and so let our readers rest from this most unpleasant and unprofitable scandal.

Turner's Convention—Second Day's Proceedings.

The second meeting of this body took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, in Turner's Hall. Owing to their participation in the ceremonies of the corner stone laying of the soldiers' monument, the session was very brief, and nothing of importance was transacted.

In the afternoon the Convention met again. The Committee on Complaints made a report in regard to the difficulties concerning the New Orleans Turner Society, and recommended, in order to have these difficulties settled finally, to said Society: First to recall certain resolutions passed on the 2nd day of March, 1870; second, to communicate the names of certain ex-members to the presiding officers of the North American Turners' Union.

These resolutions relate to a little difficulty which was created by the withdrawal of thirteen members from the Society at New Orleans, because a colored man and one of the executive officers of the State, attended one of their balls.

It affords us much pleasure to be able to announce that J. M. Kimball, Esq. has been appointed Assistant Superintendent of the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad, P. R. R. lessee. Mr. Kimball has held several high and important positions in connection with the P. Ft. W. & C. R. W. and other roads, in all of which he gave the highest satisfaction. He is possessed of superior administrative ability, has an extensive experience in railroad matters, and is therefore eminently fitted for the responsible position of Assistant Superintendent.
